Pituitary Youth.

PROFESSOR STEINACH, of Vienna, who seeks to make old men young, when he ought to worry about making them useful, has a new invention.

Serum, made of the pituitary gland, tucked away inside the skull, works wonders in rejuvenating aged rats. Animals, half dead, are made young.

Steinach should try that on Wall Street bears. They need it.

Another 4,000,000 share day, brokers getting out of bed loaded with over-night orders, 15,000 shares of General Motors was the first bite of one financial breakfast. On that one order two brokers made $3,750. No wonder stock exchange seats are traveling toward the $1,000,000 mark. "Buy 15,000 at the market," that's all, only six words.

DR. WINIFRED SACKVILLE STONER, who is a lady, says "man is superior to woman, mentally, physically, artistically and psychologically."

That is not all true, especially the "physically and psychologically" part of it. But suppose it were all true. Michael Angelo's Moses is a finer product than Michael himself. But Michael Angelo made it.

Whatever a man is, some woman made him, and the producer is nobler than the product. Better be a cocoanut tree than a cocoanut.

TO make or save money, use your brains. Leviathan, of the American Shipping Board fleet, saved $15,000 every trip on fuel, and still does 23 knots an hour. An improved propeller will save that one ship $200,000 this year.

MR. DIDANI, brave Ceylonese, makes a living by putting his head in an elephant's mouth twice daily for Mr. Ringling's circus.

The elephant lifts him up by the head, carries him around, and one of his ears is almost worn away. With one little NEW idea, Didani could live a life of luxury and save his ear. The moral is, "THINK."

MR. HOUGHTON, American Ambassador, told London, "Henry Ford has made us see that high wages are an integral part of prosperity."

That is true, and it is Ford's great service to his age, next to making automobiles more plentiful than buggies.

THE British were amazed when Henry Ford at a banquet in his honor made a speech containing only 29 words, his first speech.

Cromwell could make a speech in fewer words than that. The greatest statements are short. For instance, "Let there be light," or these 10 words, "Give light, and the people will find their own way."

EARLY yesterday in civilized Greater New York, Julius Rubin, 19, died. A few hours earlier in a prize fight, a "blow to the jaw" knocked him to the floor, backward.

He is dead, and detectives are investigating. They might investigate, while they are about it, politicians that divide profits on prize fights.

If men set two dogs to fighting and one was killed, the men would be locked up. There isn't much money in dog fighting.

A RAILROAD built by American, British, German and French engineers to connect the Persian Gulf with the Caspian Sea will cost $80,000,000. And, most interesting, howling locomotives will run through territory believed to have been the original Garden of Eden. How that would delight little Cain and Abel, and amaze Eve and the snake, if they could see it.

"REJOICE, and be exceeding glad," for rubber may drop 15 cents a pound. When British restrictions expire on November 1 much dumping of rubber is expected. Then, cheap tires for all and prosperity for tire companies that haven't bought too much rubber in advance.

JAPANESE radicals issued circulars saying, "we must expose the crimes of capitalists and land owners." The Mikado's government put 1,000 of them in jail. Democracy is all right, free speech is beautiful, but Japan doesn't believe in overdoing either.

HIRAM WESLEY EVANS

Hiram Wesley Evans, Imperial Wizard of the Ku Klux Klan, arrived in Pittsburgh and this afternoon testified in the klan's battle against so-called "banished" members in Federal Court.

K. K. K. Suit Here Is Thrown Out

FAMOUS KLAN CASE ENDS IN DRAW

The attempt of the Ku Klux Klan to enjoin five "banished members" from interfering with its operations and to collect damages from those five defendants ended dramtically in Federal Court today when Judge W. H. S. Thomson threw the case out of court.

Thus the famous case ends in a draw as two days ago the court also threw out the suit of the banished members against the klan.

Judge Thomson scored the klan in strong words as he refused their prayer for relief.

"This unlawful organization," the court said, "which is so destructive of the rights and liberties of the people, have come in vain asking this court for injunctive or other relief.

"They come with filthy hands and can get no assistance here.

"The plaintiff's prayers for relief are denied and the bill is dismissed at the cost of the plaintiff."

After five days enlivened by testimony containing startling allegations and by repeated charges of treason, theft and murder, the celebrated hearing in Federal Court came to a quick close.

Climax followed climax in the

Seize 'Band' Rum

The Marine Band Club, second floor of 115 Smithfield street, a block from the offices of the Federal prohibition authorities, and which they say harbored neither Marines nor musical instruments, was raided last night.

Gin, moonshine and wine, besides a copious supply of home brew of a total value of $1,000 were confiscated, the agents announced. An occasional vocal solo and sometimes a duet or quartet in incongruous tones was the nearest approach the club ever made toward musical contributions, the prohibition agents opined.

Frank A. Griffin of McNeilly avenue and Thomas Archer of Tilbury avenue, said to have been dispensing drinks, were arrested by the raiders.

Other places raided, contraband seized and those arrested, according to the agents, follow: 20 Elmore street, two gallons whisky, Annie Lender; saloon at 6354-56 Station street, four quarts whisky, a gallon of wine, Joshua Jones, Negro; dwelling in Bailey Run road, Creighton, 25-gallon still, five barrels of mash, three gallons moonshine, William Shields, Negro.

PLANE SEEN MAY BE GERMAN FLIERS

International News Service

NEW YORK, April 13.—After a flurry of unconfirmed reports that the German trans-Atlantic plane Bremen had been sighted at several points in Nova Scotia, this afternoon found the plane still missing and overdue, according to calculations made by Chief Pilot Herman Koehl before he hopped off at Baldonnel Airdrome, Dublin, at 12:38 o'clock yesterday morning, Pittsburgh time.

Koehl had planned to reach the American coast line this morning.

At 1:20 this afternoon nearly 37 hours had elapsed since the Bremen hopped off for Mitchel Field.

BATH, Me., April 13.—(AP.)—Coast guardsmen at Popham Beach, at the mouth of the Kennebec River, reported that they heard the whirr of an airplane at about 1:20 o'clock, eastern standard time, this afternoon, and finally sighted one flying very high and headed west.

They said the plane was so far off they could not get any distinguishing marks.

BROCKTON, Mass., April 13.—(UP.)—Several residents of this city sighted an airplane, flying exceptionally high at 12:55 p. m. today, according to a report received by a Brockton newspaper.

The plane, described as "a mere speck in the sky," was reported traveling in a southwesterly direction.

YARMOUTH, Nova Scotia, April 13.—(INS.)—Confirmation was lacking here today of reports received in Montreal that an airplane believed to be the Bremen, en route from Dublin for New York, had been sighted. Officials of the marine department said that, so far as they could determine, no airplane had been seen here, although a careful watch is being kept for the German and Irish fliers.

MONTREAL, April 13.—(INS.)—Reports that a plane believed to be the Bremen has been sighted flying toward New York have been received here from several Nova Scotian villages.

From Annapolis, Kingsport, Yarmouth and from points along the Bay of Fundy information was received that a large plane resembling the Bremen had been seen flying

It was reported from Kingsport, Nova Scotia, that Capt. Barkhouse, of the Canadian steamer Arras, had sighted a plane he believed to be the Bremen at 9 o'clock Pittsburgh time, but the Canadian government department of marine at Ottawa, Ont., announced this afternoon that no confirmation of the Barkhouse report had been received.

SIGHTING UNCONFIRMED

About the same time reports were circulated that a plane believed to be the Bremen had been sighted over Yarmouth and Annapolis, Nova Scotia, but these proved to be unconfirmable rumors.

A great crowd of nearly 3,000 people began gathering at Mitchel Field during the morning to await the arrival of the German-Irish airmen. Numerous reports were received at the field from time to time, rousing the enthusiastic hopes of the watchers that the fliers had succeeded in spanning the Atlantic. However, each report was followed almost immediatelyby a denial.

Up to 1:20 this afternoon nothing official and definite had been heard of the Bremen since it passed out to sea over Aran Island at the entrance of Galway Bay, Ireland.

As the hours crawled by and the Bremen failed to put in an appearance, considerable anxiety was aroused, but hope was held out that the plane may have left its course or was flying too high to be sighted. According to an estimate made by Koehl before he hopped off, his fuel supply would carry the Bremen up to 5 o'clock this afternoon, Pittsburgh time.

Rain Keeps Bucs-Cards Idle

ST. LOUIS, April 13. — A heavy rain fell on St. Louis today and kept the Pirates and Cardinals idle.

The Pittsburgh team is scheduled to leave for Cincinnati about 10 p. m. Four games with the Reds, beginning with tomorrow, are on the Pirate card, after which the Bushwhackers will hurry home for the opener at Forbes Field.

The big occasion in Pittsburgh takes place next Thursday afternoon with the Cardinals as opponents for the Buccos.

The flag raising festivities will be observed.

P. R. R. PLANS 5 MILLION FREIGHT YARD HERE

Plans for the expenditure of $5,000,000 for new freight and produce terminals which will stretch along the Allegheny River bank from Eleventh street to Twenty-first street were revealed here today by the Pennsylvania Railroad. The plans were approved by the board of directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad at Philadelphia Wednesday afternoon.

Verification of the proposed improvement was given by W. D. Wiggins, chief engineer for the P. R. R., Central Region, and G. M. Sixsmith, superintendent of the Conemaugh Division, who has been acting as chairman of the railroad's contact committee to carry on negotiations with the produce merchants.

Two steel plants will be razed, according to the plans. The city warehouse of the Carnegie Steel Company and the Eleventh street plant of the Mackintosh-Hemphill Company will be torn down. The property was purchased by the railroad several months ago. In their place, the plans call for the erection of a large freight terminal running from Eleventh street almost to the Sixteenth Street Bridge.

Above the Sixteenth street bridge will be erected the new produce terminal, housing railroad offices, two auction companies and a package platform for sales in less than carload lots. This innovation has proven advantageous in other cities.

Charles A. Muehlbronner, chairman of the produce merchants' contact committee, which worked out the details with railroad officials, says the new method of handling package goods will stabi-

SENATORS HOLD STORMY SESSION OVER BALKY COAL OWNERS

SURRENDER BY SOLONS SEEN

By MAX HENRICI.
Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Indications were, after a stormy executive session of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee today, that the Southern West Virginia coal operators would be sustained by the committee in their refusal to answer the committee's questions. At any rate it was learned that Senators who insist that the committee has the inquisitive power which the operators deny are doubtful if they will be able to command a majority of their colleagues when the issue comes to vote.

For hours the committee, with the largest number of its members on hand that have been in attendance since the coal investigation was begun six weeks ago, discussed the question behind closed doors. That the discussion was animated was apparent from the loudness of the voices heard when the doors were occasionally opened to permit a member to go in or out.

It was thought at the outset of the meeting that a vote would be taken quickly, but as the debate was prolonged more and more of the senators desired to air their views. The consequence was that adjournment was taken finally with the issue still undecided.

Since it was an executive session none of the members was willing to say for publication what transpired.

Senator James E. Watson, chairman of committee, said it would hold no further meetings until Monday. The question of compelling the recalcitrant West Virginians to answer the committee's queries will be temporarily left in abeyance. But the hearings will be resumed Monday, when Ohio coal operators will take the witness stand voluntarily.

KLAN CASE ENDS IN DRAW

closing hours of the hearing, and the presence of Dr. Hiram Wesley Evans, imperial wizard of the klan, gave an air of glamor to the case.

EVANS DENIES CHARGE

On the witness stand Evans made a sweeping denial of practically all the charges brought forward by the five "banished members" of the klan, who are the defendants in the suit to enjoin them from holding meetings under the name of the klan.

The last stand made by the defendants was the calling of a witness who donned the "black robe of death," and in his weird regalia gave his testimony.

Much of the time was devoted to addresses by counsel. Van A. Barrickman, for the defense, launched an attack against Evans. Counsel for the klan argued that the Federal Court has jurisdiction to discipline recreant members of a secret organization.

SHOW BLACK ROBES

The defendants brought alleged members of the black-robed night riders, who exhibited in court the black robes and other regalia alleged to have been worn by the "battalion of death."

The imperial wizard, wearing a natty blue suit, stepped to the witness stand and answered the questions with a confident air.

He stated that the initial klan in Dallas, Tex., was organized in 1921, which was after the atrocities alleged by a defendant witness.

WAS AT CARNEGIE

"Did you attend the demonstration in Carnegie, Dr. Evans?"

"I did."

"Did you make an address to the klansmen present?"

"The question of a parade came up and I suggested they should not march unless they had proper authority."

"Did you make the remark that the killing of Klansman Abbott at the Carnegie riot meant an addition of 25,000 new members to the klan?"

"I made no such statement."

"Did you know Mr. Ludlow, a witness in this case, who made the assertions of burning men alive?"

"I never saw such a man."

EXHIBITS REGALIA

William G. Seemiller, of Philadelphia, who said he had been a member of the black-robed night riders, walked to the witness stand carrying a valise filled with black satin regalia and a hood with a skull and crossbones design. Wearing the hood and robe on the witness stand, Seemiller gave his testimony, relating to various alleged acts of terrorism in and around Philadelphia.

MRS. PINCHOT

Associated Press. CANTON, Pa., April 13.

MRS. CORNELIA BRYCE PINCHOT, wife of former Governor Gifford Pinchot, doesn't mind being interrupted in her political speeches by her opponent for the Congress nomination, but she resents the implication that she drinks intoxicating liquors.

She invaded the home town of her opponent, Representative Louis T. McFadden, last night and while addressing a rally in a theater was frequently interrupted by the Congressman.

McFadden asked, "How dare you stand there and tell this audience you don't drink?"

Shouts of "put him out" filled the building.

"No, let him remain," said Mrs. Pinchot. "I do not drink, and he knows it. If elected, I shall vote dry, live dry and give all my patronage to dry people."

"Your own life has not been so much beyond reproach, she told the Congressman.

Klan Trial Ends, Pared Down to First Suit

The klan trial here in its final stages was confined to the original suit in which damages and an order to restrain the five "banished" klansmen from interfering with klan activities were asked, by the state klan. The suit of the "banished" klansmen—Attorney Van Barrickman, Charles F. Oyer, the Rev. John F. Strayer, Latrobe; Dr. Charles Hunter, North Bessemer, and William C. Davis, Manor, asked a receivership and accounting of the organization, was thrown out. Judge Thomson ruled it came under the jurisdiction of the state court.

Scan Skies for Ocean Fliers—on Friday, 13th

ABOARD S. S. MAURETANIA, April 13.—Dawn today found the Mauretania moving rapidly over the approximate course of the trans-Atlantic airplane Bremen.

The ship at 5 a. m. was nearly 900 miles out from New York, near the Grand Banks of Newfoundland. A few clouds hampered visibility and the German airplane had not been sighted.

BALDONNEL AIRDROME, IRISH FREE STATE, April 13.—(AP.)—There was no anxiety evident among the companions of Col. James Fitzmaurice, co-pilot of the Bremen, when the night passed without word of the fate of the plane on its trans-Atlantic flight. It had been estimated that the Bremen would be sighted at Newfoundland about 12:30 a. m. (Eastern Standard time) today.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., April 13.—(AP.)—High visibility and generally excellent flying weather of yesterday had given way this morning to strong southeast winds and a low visibility as watchers anxiously scanned the horizon for some trace of the German trans-Atlantic plane, Bremen.

NEW YORK, April 13.—(AP.)—Two wives, one in Ireland and one in Germany today waited anxiously for news of the fate of the Bremen, piloted by their husbands.

"I am no child and want to face the facts," Mrs. Herman Koehl said in Berlin. "I'll go about my work calmly."

Tears dimmed the eyes of Mrs. James Fitzmaurice as she saw her husband climb into the plane and start down the runway at Baldonnel Airdrome.

In one corner of the airdrome "Pat," 8-year-old daughter of Col. Fitzmaurice, played with two new pets—an Alsatian pup named "Breena," which arrived at Baldonnel the day the Bremen landed from Berlin, and a few days old lamb which her father had tucked into her bed after finding it on the airfield.

MITCHEL FIELD, N. Y., April 13.—(AP.)—Huddled into the little bungalow that houses the flying field headquarters, a score of welcomers, official and unofficial, were waiting today for word that the German monoplane Bremen had crossed the Atlantic and was headed for her destination here.

Fred Melchior, chief pilot for the Junkers Corporation, which built the Bremen, was standing by to take the air in a sister ship to the trans-Atlantic plane. He planned to meet the Bremen in the clouds, wheel with her over lower Manhattan and guide her to the spot here where she would land.

With him was Fraulein Herta Junkers, daughter of Hugo Junkers, head of the corporation.

NEW YORK, April 13.—(AP.)—A typical New York welcome was planned today for the three occupants of the German monoplane Bremen.

Mayor James J. Walker, his reception committee headed by Grover Whalen, heads of German-American and Irish-American societies, the German consul general and hundreds of private citizens arranged to be at Mitchel Field to greet the fliers.

NEW YORK, April 13.—(AP.)—The coastguard cutter Modoc, on ice patrol off Newfoundland, radioed the Associated Press at 7 o'clock this morning that no sign of the German monoplane, Bremen, had been seen.

"Keeping bright lookout," the message read. "No news of plane. Weather now fine, clear, with light north breeze. Sea is moderating from effects of yesterday's westerly blow."

Last night the Modoc gave her position as 44.30 north, 43.10 west, and it was believed she is not far from that position this morning. This is slightly south of the route the Bremen would take if she was to make a landfall on the Newfoundland coast.

very high. Identification was impossible, it was stated.

Numerous reports, many of them obviously false, have been received here by the Canadian National Telegraph. One report even stated that the Bremen had arrived in New York.

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, April 13.—(AP.)—The German steamer Derfflinger, which put into Galway for about two hours today, reported that she had picked up a message yesterday from a steamer further out at sea that the Junkers plane Bremen had been sighted by that vessel. The name of the steamer was not known and no details were given.

The Derfflinger herself did not sight the trans-Atlantic plane.

NEW YORK, April 13.—(INS.)—Crowds in upper New York City filled the streets shortly before 2 p. m. today when a large monoplane, flying very high, was seen traveling at a high rate of speed in a southeasterly direction.

While it was impossible to identify the plane definitely, many who saw it believed that it was the trans-Atlantic plane Bremen, because of the construction of the underwings.

Two Defy Jinx Of Friday 13th And Marry

WELLSBURG, W. Va., April 13.—Thomas Hartland, Terrace Postoffice, Homeville, Pa., and Miss Agnes Hess, R. F. D. Homestead, Pa., pinned their faith in Dan Cupid to overcome the traditional jinx supposed to accompany events begun on Friday the thirteenth. The two driving here in a bright roadster, obtained a marriage license and were married a few minutes later by the Rev. R. P. Andrews, of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

persons broke into cheers and rushed the police lines guarding the flying field this morning when a plane the watchers believed to be the trans-Atlantic Bremen swooped to ground.

When the plane proved to be the Junkers C-38, sister ship of the Bremen, and to have arrived from Curtiss Field, one mile away, the crowd groaned and retreated from the field.

The crowds began gathering early, and by 8 o'clock the road along the edge of the field was crowded. The weather was perfect with sunny skies and a fresh westerly breeze, the optimism was general.

The Bremen was not seriously expected for several hours, but the watchers scanned the skies ceaselessly.

Because of the fine weather a large crowd was anticipated at the field and 500 soldiers were assigned to police duty. Besides this 50 patrolmen of the Nassau county police and 24 motorcycle police were on duty.

Among distinguished watchers to make an early appearance were Acting German Consul General Gustave Heuser and Consul Eugene Klee, in charge of aeronautics for the German consulate.

Boy Flier Sets New Record

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 13.—(AP.)—Forced down by a blinding snow storm, Gene Shank landed his 90 horsepower biplane at 9:18 a. m. here today, after establishing a world's record for sustained flight of a light airplane, as shown in records available here.

It was Shank's fourth attempt for an air record.

Bucking winds and a snow storm, Shank succeeded in breaking the world's record for sustained flight in a light plane and was still flying at 8:30 a. m.

The 22-year-old St. Paul pilot was in the air 14 hours and 28 minutes, bettering the mark of 12 hours 28 minutes made by Barry Brooks in a small Ford plane recently in a flight from Detroit to Titusville, Fla. Brooks later was killed.

When Shank took the air at 5:50 p. m. yesterday in his fourth attempt to make a new mark for continuous flight of light planes, ideal weather prevailed, but early today snow began to fall.

He had planned to try for a new endurance record for all planes, aiming at the mark recently set by Haldeman and Stinson—53 hours and 36 minutes, intending to refuel in the air. He had 143 gallons of gasoline when he took off.

HURL STALE BREAD AT TROLLEY; FINED $10

A loaf of stale bread hurled through the window of a street car at Lincoln avenue and Lyric street early today cost Rudolph Sauers, 24, of 107 Orchard place, and John Westcott, 29, of 7053 Monticello street, $10 each before Magistrate W. J. Soost in Frankstown Avenue Police Court. Broken glass showered passengers and Motorman Patrick Daily, it was testified.

RIOT OVER SNEEZE BOMB

A near-riot occurred and two arrests were made at an anti-annexation meeting in Hays Borough Hall last night when "pros" scattered sneezing powder in the crowd.

Burgess Jesse R. Langley, of Wilkinsburg, had concluded an address and Attorney H. E. Carmalt, of the same borough, was in the midst of a speech on "How Happy We Are in Wilkinsburg," when a chorus of sneezes swept the room.

Several suspected perpetrators were handled roughly for a few minutes. A riot call was telephoned to county detective headquarters at 10 p. m., but was countermanded at 10:10 p. m., with the information that the "riot" was over.

The meeting was attended by several score men and women opposed to annexation of Hays to Pittsburgh. The question will be decided at the primaries, April 24.

Albert Jones, 25, and Robert Kitzinger, 23, were arrested, charged with disorderly conduct by Police Chief Frank Tabasco. There will be a hearing tonight before Burgess Walter Adams.

Swerving from the street, this big Pittsburgh-Cleveland motor coach, Crescent Tours Company, plowed across the sidewalk and crushed the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Boyd, 2053 Chateau street. She went over a fence in the rear and ran around to the street, fearing that a gasoline station across the street had blown up. The driver, Fred McAllister, 27, 1010 Fifth avenue, was arrested.

IRON FURNACE

The razing of Clinton furnace, West Carson street, to make way for freight yard extensions of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad, removes Pittsburgh's first practical iron furnace. The original furnace was built in 1859 by Graff, Bennett & Co. It was 45 feet high and had a capacity of 15,000 tons. The first iron furnace here was erected in 1792 by George Anshutz, but it was operated only two years. It stood near the present Shadyside Station on the Pennsylvania Railroad.

LAST OF CLINTON

The Clinton Iron Works, successors of the pioneers of the Clinton furnace, operated this mill which adjoined the old furnace. West Carson street is historic ground in Pittsburgh's industrial history and nearby was the Sligo mill, opened in 1825. Still earlier, there was erected on the banks of the Monongahela the Union rolling mill, started in 1819. It was accidentally blown up and dismantled in 1829, the machinery being removed to Covington, Ky.

INDUSTRY'S INCREASE

The Clinton furnace and others two years later gave Pittsburgh an annual production of pig iron of 75,000 tons in 1861. In comparison, it may be noted that Aliquippa furnace No. 2, Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation, last year established a record of 285,148 tons. The furnaces and buildings now being removed cover about 12 acres. The work is being carried on rapidly and it is expected that the new railroad yards will be opened early in the summer.

GIRL STOWAWAYS LEAD TO SAILOR'S ARREST

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(AP.)—Five girls who sought adventure on the high seas might still be sailing with Uncle Sam's navy, had not one of them confided to her chum that she intended to ship on a destroyer as a stowaway. But she did, and now five girls are on land again, one sailor is under arrest, and a court of inquiry will go into the matter.

The girl who told was Cynthia Alberta Poole, 15-year-old high school girl of St. Petersburg, Fla. The chum told Cynthia's parents and her father got in touch with the naval authorities. A search of the destroyer Billingsley resulted in the discovery of the girl and she was put ashore at Mayport, Fla.

Poole's message also resulted in a general search of vessels in South Atlantic waters and four other girls were found.

The four gave their names as Billy Lacer, Rose McGuire, Flossie Rice and Ramilda Avary. Placed ashore at Key West by the Concord, they said they had "shipped" at New Orleans to return to their homes in Philadelphia, where they were employed as waitresses. All were given fares back to New Orleans.

Cynthia Poole was said to have told the commander of the Billingsley that she met a sailor named Kramer at a soft drink stand in St. Petersburg when the vessel was anchored there. She added that Kramer, who is being held by the authorities, persuaded her to board the destroyer.

With the expected passage next Tuesday of the resolution introduced by Councilman James M. Malone to defray part of the race's expenses, this city will be assured of the annual spectacle.

Miller at 303 Elizabeth avenue, Avalon. They are not related and never met before entering the University.

GOLFER, FLIER KILLED IN AUTO

International News Service.

PHILADELPHIA, April 13.—While returning home from a bachelor party, Courtland R. Jones, 24, of Green Hill Farms, Overbrook, and Norman Leas, 26, of Philadelphia, prominent amateur golfer, were killed instantly early today when their automobile crashed into the lowered steel boom of a steam shovel in Fairmont Park.

Park guards extricated the victims from the wrecked machine. Jones was pronounced dead in Presbyterian Hospital while Leas was taken to Philadelphia Homeopathic Hospital. Their skulls were crushed.

Both men were prominent in society circles here. Jones also was noted as an amateur aviator, squash player and clubman.

"Ad" Crowds Greet "Gentleman Jim"

WANTED—Young looking man about the age of 61 to help young lady box buttercuts in new dairy industry.

James J. Corbett, former world's champion boxer, actor and want ad taker, looked up from the counter in The Sun-Tele downtown office to meet the roguish gaze of pretty Evelyn Patterson, his first "customer," and said, "I'll take that job."

"But you can't, really," he was told; "you have a job here and there are a couple of hundred people waiting outside to have you take their ads."

With a sigh the great "Gentleman Jim" crawled back over the counter and went back to work. Men, women and children greeted the "big fellow," some had ads and some didn't, but most of them came on business.

"How'r yuh, Jim" greeted a gray-haired man who edged through the crowd and extended his hand. "Greetings from San Jose. Just happened to be passing through and thought I'd stop in."

"Glad to see you," Corbett's greeting was enthusiastic. "How's Hiram Bagley and the rest of the boys?"

One woman pushed through the crowd breathlessly. "You're not really THE Jim Corbett who licked John L. Sullivan, are you?"

"No, mam, that was my father," the great Corbett smiled.

"I thought you didn't look that old," replied the woman, shaking hands.

Grace Keller, 26, of Clairhaven street, Crafton, is a battler when she tackles liquor, she admitted in Morals court today. Formerly a waitress in a Penn avenue restaurant, she returned last night and paid for a meal, it was testified, with another girl's money.

The theft of the purse of Julia Tarbell, 38, Alexis street, waitress, was discovered before Miss Keller left and Daniel Lacyk, proprietor, intercepted her. She kicked at him and tried to strike him with a knife, he said.

Before Magistrate A. D. Brandon today she said she had been drinking and did not remember. She was held for further investigation.

WOMAN 'RED' BLAMED FOR BOMB KILLING 30

International News Service

MILAN, Italy, April 13.—A woman may have been among the Terrorist plotters who exploded a bomb in Julius Caesar plaza with the evident intention of assassinating King Victor Emanuel, according to evidence given today at a judicial inquiry.

Just before the explosion, which killed 30 and injured many more persons, a man and woman were seen moving suspiciously in the neighborhood of the lamp post in which the infernal machine was hidden.

Witnesses, who observed the couple, told the police that the man and woman moved furtively and appeared to be watching the lamp post, although they did not venture close to it.

About one minute before the blast a man was seen running from the scene. Two minutes after the explosion a man, whose actions aroused the suspicion of the gendarmes, was arrester 600 feet from the scene.

Terrorists believed to have attempted the assassination of the King will be given a speedy trial by a military court if they are captured.

Premier Mussolini's newspaper, Popola D'Italia, says that the elements of the crime "prove that the plotters belong to a high political faction, whose misdeeds must be uncovered and punished within a few days."

It is reported that the police have received an anonymous letter, whose writer declared he was a former anarchist. He claimed that the bomb was not directed against the life of any particular person.

The police have arrested Ferdinand Balladori, porter of the building in front of which the bomb had been concealed. He was closely questioned, but so far as is known was able to throw little light upon the bombing.

The outrage was accompanied by tragic scenes. A soldier named Joseph Derosa, who was on duty near the scene, rushed forward when the blast took place. He stumbled over the body of a maimed and unconscious woman. As he raised her in his arms he recognized her as his own mother. She died as he pressed her to his breast.

The city is still plunged in gloom. A public subscription is being raised for the families of the victims. More than $20,000 already has been pledged.

STORER FAVORS CLEAN BALLOT, MOTHER AID

The apparently prevailing sentiment among candidates for legislature that the time has come to improve the existing election laws came to the front again today when Representative Arthur Storer, announcing the platform on which he seeks re-election from the Tenth district, declared for "laws that will protect the purity of the ballot and insure clean elections."

"I am in favor of the mothers' assistance fund and believe that sufficient money should be appropriated to give immediate relief in such cases that come to that department," said Mr. Storer, who is a resident of Elizabeth, "I am in favor of the extension of highways, but more particularly in the maintenance of those already constructed. I believe that our free public schools should be kept to the highest possible standard that equal opportunity might be afforded to all. I am for home rule in government affairs and believe in the enforcement of all laws."

Claiming that propaganda is being circulated that she opposed the workmen's compensation law, Representative Helen Grimes, seeking re-election in the Twelfth district, declared last night in an address at I. O. O. F. Hall, Castle Shannon, that her vote "has always been right on workers' legislation."

Workers active in the campaign for re-election of Capt. John S. Purucker in the Fifth district will hold a meeting and entertainment in his home, 1314 Richmond street, Saturday night. Speakers will include Robert J. Gumbert, Edward D. Friebertshauser, John J. Freyvogel, Leo Kirch, James J. Murphy, Sylvester Bierman and John J. O'Donnell.

Suspended Chief, Reinstated, Then Fired

STEUBENVILLE, O., April 13.—Ross Cunningham, Steubenville's suspended police chief, was chief for a few moments last night, and then suspended again.

Mayor Oliver Conley summoned Cunningham to his office, dropped charges preferred against him more than a week ago, and then notified him of his suspension on new charges.

The first suspension resulting from alleged neglect of duty carried demotion to the ranks. Last night's suspension carried dismissal.

His honor charges that Cunningham permitted beer seized at a war vet gathering, to be returned to them.

Cunningham for the second time announced he would carry his fight to hold his job to court.

It cost Paul Bihary of 2035 Forbes street $1,285 to oblige two strangers whom he met in Fifth avenue near Dinwiddie street, yesterday. The strangers approached Bihary one at a time, each desiring a passport. Bihary proudly took them to his bank and to show them it was a reliable institution, he drew out $1,285 he had on deposit.

One of the two strangers gave Bihary some money and asked him to make a purchase for him in a nearby store. To show good faith, Bihary left his $1,285 as a guarantee, police report. When he returned the men had disappeared.

WASHINGTON, Pa., April 13.—The Vesta Coal Company, of Pittsburgh, subsidiary of the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company, yesterday offered a reward of $1,000 for the arrest and conviction of the slayers of George Stanivich, 38, who was brutally beaten to death March 24 while on his way to work in a mine of the firm, near Bealisville. ROSENBERG EXTRADITION CASE DELAYED 11 DAYS

The hearing on the proposed extradition of Sol Rosenberg, one-time investigator for William L. King, former Citizens League secretary, will be held at Albany, N. Y., April 24, it was announced by county detectives last night. It was to have been held today. County Detective James McGinley wired the information to Pittsburgh from Albany, where he had gone to attend the hearing. Gospel Spread Through Tags on Geese KINGSVILLE, Ont., April 13.—AP.)—Two hundred and three wild Canadian geese were liberated yesterday with tags each bearing a verse of scripture—Jack Miner's method of spreading the gospel.

The geese, including 37 which had been tagged both in 1926 and 1927, were caught and tagged by Miner as part of a regular system by which he has determined that the birds winter in North Carolina and go to Hudson Bay territory and Baffin Land to breed and spend the summer. Nearly 500 geese have been tagged by Miner this year with his address and the scripture verses.

LINDY HOPES BREMEN IS O. K.

"THOSE BOYS HAVE NERVE," HE SAYS

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., April 13.—(INS.)—The man who first spanned the Atlantic by air has nothing but admiration and heartfelt wishes for Capt. Herman Koehl and his companions in the Junkers monoplane Bremen.

Upon hearing the news that the Bremen was winging its way to American shores, Capt. Charles A. Lindbergh evidenced deep concern over the chances for success in the latest attempt to fly across the Atlantic in a westward direction, according to reports today from the Montecito estate of Mrs. Laura J. Knight, near here, where the Lone Eagle is resting.

"I sure hope they make it," Col. Lindbergh is reported to have said. "Those boys have nerve, considering what has happened to the others who tried to fly westward over the Atlantic."

He is reported to have concluded his comment on the Bremen's flight with an expression of hope that the three fliers land safely in New York.

Padden in court yesterday afternoon. Murphy was represented by Assistant United States District Attorney Dan Anderson.

WOMAN IS HURT AS BUS RAMS INTO HOUSE

The front wall of the home of Mrs. Clara Boyd, of 2058 Chateau street was wrecked yesterday when a Pittsburgh bound Pittsburgh-Cleveland automobile bus ploughed through it. Fred McAllister, 27, of 1910 Fifth avenue, driver of the bus, said it got beyond his control when he swerved it suddenly to avoid a crash with a motor truck coming out of a side street.

Mrs. Catherine Carlisle, 36, of Cleveland, a passenger on the bus, suffered cuts and bruises. She was treated at St. John's General Hospital. Other passengers were shaken up. The house was damaged $2,000, it was estimated. The bus driver was arrested on a charge of reckless driving.

One report said the raid followed complaint by Moss' wife, who has filed suit for divorce.

THE PITTSBURGH SUN-TELEGRAPH

Franz Schubert Will Reach Screen as Result of Newest Invasion of Music Show Realm

By MILDRED FILLMORE

PERHAPS it is appropriate that Frank Borzage, movie director, is vacationing in Honolulu, where it's always blossome time. Anyway, he is the gentleman who will boss the filming of the famous operetta, "Blossom Time," which has been seen and acclaimed right in our own city so many times in recent years. It wasn't so very long ago that it was back in the Alvin in what was heralded its final appearance here,

The movies have proven themselves quite capable in picturizing these music vehicles. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer did a good job of "The Student Prince" and "Rose Marie." What was lost in the way of music by their transitions to the screen was gained in scenic effects and story elaborations. Let me be more specific. While you didn't hear the famous drinking song in the movie version of "The Student Prince," you saw foam oozing over the mug tops—and that was something.

It is the Fox people who are making this latest invasion of the musical show realm. Fox, you know, is an old artist at setting up stage vehicles before the cameras. Examples? Well, take "What Price Glory" and "Seventh Heaven." Of course, they weren't music shows, but they denote what the Fox crowd can do when they have a good story. And there's a good story in "Blossom Time."

Now for a nice piece of news. Charles Farrell will portray the composer, Franz Schubert, and the inspiration of his love themes will be Janet Gaynor. "Remember, Janet and Charlie—the heroine and hero who soared so high in "Seventh Heaven?"

Here's an interesting sidelight on the movies: Gertrude Astor, considered by many as one of the best screen heavies, worked for 19 weeks at a salary of $750 a week on Universal's "Uncle Tom's Cabin." In the finished production she appears in but one sequence—her time on the screen being about four seconds.

Maybe you have been missing Roy D'Arcy and his flashing teeth. It appears that this polished screen villain is to try his luck in vaudeville. I have "inside stuff" that he's rehearsing an act with Lita Gray Chaplin. And that once-popular, cross-eyed movie comic, Ben Turpin, he too is going into vaudeville. He opens on the Loew circuit in Cleveland next week.

It seems a sure bet that the comedy team of Raymond Hatton and Wallace Beery is to be disbanded. It had been told how Wallace, tiring of comic work, induced Paramount to put him back in serious dramatic roles. Now, from Los Angeles, comes the information that Paramount executives have dropped Hatton.

Sailing lists from New York bring news of two more prominent players who have taken to the high seas. Ernest Torrence is en route for a vacation in Scotland. Ramon Novarro is sailing for the Canary Islands to visit his two sisters, who are nuns.

This photoplay "Wings" certainly has put the names of Richard Arlen and Charles Rogers prominent in the film firmament. It's not so many years ago that Charles was a student at the University of Kansas. Then the movie bug bit him rather badly and he applied for admittance to the Paramount movie school. He was accepted. Of the 12 or so graduates of that school he is one of but two who have made any marked progress on the screen. The other being Walter Goss, who recently was seen under the name of Roland Drew, in Dolores Del Rio's "Ramona."

As for Richard Arlen—he's married, girls. His wife is Jobyna Ralston, the heroine of several Harold Lloyd comedies.

Guy Oliver Given Five Hundredth Film Role

Guy Oliver, who began his career with Paramount when that company's studio was a barn in a big Hollywood lemon grove, has been assigned his five hundredth screen role by B. P. Schulberg, associate Paramount producer.

Oliver, who has been under oral contract since Jesse L. Lasky, first vice president of Paramount-Famous-Lasky, engaged him for a two-reel picture 13 years ago, will start work this week in support of Esther Ralston in an untitled picture.

When Oliver was playing in his first Paramount picture, Miss Ralston was a little girl with long yellow curls, attending grammar school in Glendale, Cal., and staying out of classes to fill extra parts whenever the opportunity offered.

DEBATE LIMITED ON FLOOD BILL

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(INS.)—An early vote on the Jones-Reid flood control bill in the House was assured today by the action of the Rules Committee in allotting six hours of general debate to proponents of the measure and a like amount of time to its opponents. The measure will come up for consideration in the House beginning Tuesday.

Pantomime Urged in Directing Picture

Motion picture acting has created an international mode of expression—pantomime. But Benjamin Christianson is believed to be the first director who ever had to direct scenes in pantomime. This novel departure was required during the filming of Chinese scenes in First National's "The "Hawk's Nest," starring Milton Sills, which is now in production.

More than 40 Chinese extras were used in a scene showing a Chinese council in a Buddhist shrine. Fully half of the extras either did not understand English at all, or so imperfectly that ordinary direction by voice was impossible.

Christianson showed each what he was supposed to do in the scene and placed a full-length mirror out of the camera's range into which the men could look and see his reflection. Then he gave them their cues by pantomime during the filming of the scenes.

MRS. COOLIDGE RETURNING

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., April 12.—(INS.)—Assured that her mother, Mrs. Lemira Goodhue, is out of danger, Mrs. Calvin Coolidge was en route to Washington today. She was accompanied by Dr. Joel Boone and John J. Fitzgerald, secret service man.

Mrs. Coolidge plans to return here within the next two weeks. She came here from Washington nearly three weeks ago when her 78-year-old mother was in a critical condition.

Coming

WALTER HAMPDEN

Mr. Hampden is coming to the Alvin the week of April 23. On that date, celebrating Shakespeare's birthday, he will present "Hamlet." Other plays to be given by him will be "Caponsacchi," based on Browning's "The Book and the Ring," and Ibsen's "An Enemy of the People."

Fred Thomson Puts Kit Carson on Screen

A motion picture based on the life of Kit Carson, Indian scout and military leader in the old West, will be made by Fred Thomson, it has just been announced in Hollywood.

Thomson expects to begin production the latter part of this month. Paul Powell is now working on the preliminary treatment of the story. Lloyd Ingraham and Alfred L. Werker will direct.

Carson's name figures heroically in all histories of the West. California's original booster, he led John C. Fremont into the territory three times and played a principal role in the drama of revolution and intrigue which ended Mexican rule on the coast. He spoke Spanish and all the Indian languages of the Southwest, but he never learned to read or write.

"WINGS" STAYS IN NIXON

The second week of "Wings," aviation photoplay, which is now being given twice daily at the Nixon, begins Monday. Many have seen the picture and the seat sale for next week is said to be unusual.

In "The Clutching Claw," to be given next week by the George Sharp Players in the Pitt, the play opens with the master of the house sitting at his library table. A glistening claw appears behind the chair, grips the man's throat and strangles him.

Three dancing troupes appear in "A Night in Spain," the New York Winter Garden revue which will be see in the Alvin next week. The Gertrude Hoffman girls, the Casino de Paris girls and the New York Winter Garden beauty brigade form the combination.

Adela Verne, pianist, will appear on the Davis stage next week, presenting a selection of concert numbers. The Davis screen will offer Richard Arlen in "Under the Tonto Rim."

DANCE INSTRUCTOR'S SON WITH THESPIANS

The Penn State Thespians will present their thirty-first annual dramatic production in the Syria Mosque Monday night. It is titled "Honestly Yours." The chorus work is under the direction of Al White, Jr., son of the instructor of a Philadelphia dancing studio. Al Miller of Allentown also is prominent in a directorial capacity. A number of Pittsburgh boys are in the cast.

TREES 4 FEET THICK ARE ONLY FOOT HIGH

The most extraordinary forest in the world occupies a tableland six miles in width, near the West Coast of Africa. The peculiarity of the trees is that, though their trunks are as much as four feet in diameter, they attain the height of only a foot. No tree bears more than two leaves, and these attain a breadth of two feet.

What is this "Mysterious Substance" In Beef Liver that Brings Robust Health to Thin Blooded, Anemic People?

"Eat More Liver!"—Doctors Advise

If you don't know—You ought to know—that science has discovered in beef and calves liver a "Mysterious Substance" that by actual test has succeeded in restoring to good health thousands of weak, thin blooded, wornout people.

So leading physicians the country over are advising their run-down, thin blooded patients to eat more liver for better health, more energy and greater vitality.

So wonderfully efficient is this "Mysterious substance" that in many hospitals that dread disease, Pernicious Anemia, has been successfuly treated and overcome.

But getting into the system this potent "Mysterious Substance" by eating liver is recognized as a slow process—too slow for the average eager American who wants to get well speedily.

So one of the best known laboratories in America, after prolonged experiments, succeeded in extracting from fresh beef liver the vital elements and put up this extract in concentrated form, very palatable and even pleasant to the taste.

You can go to any druggist who is at all progressive today and get a big 12-ounce bottle of Home-Liver that will last you eight days. It is not a patent medicine.

A tablespoonful is a dose and you'll have to eat a lot of liver to get as much of this red blood making "Mysterious Substance," as you'll get in one tablespoonful of Hemo-Liver.

Indeed its powerful efficacy is so apparent that one bottle, or eight days treatment, often brings such a big improvement in health that both patient and Doctor are astonished.

Its success as a maker of rich blood and to bring strength, vigor and vitality to those who are anemic and run down is so certain that pharmacists sell it with the distinct understanding that if one bottle does not help you—Wonderfully—your money will be refunded.

Men and women who are suffering from lowered vitality, general weakness, overwork, nervous breakdown or anemia can put their faith in Hemo-Liver. MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

by HELEN ROWLAND

UNSWEETENED TRUTHS

MARRIAGE, these days, is a race between the stork and the divorce-lawyer.

Two things that can never be resuscitated are a dead political issue and a last spring's love affair.

Henry VIII and Bluebeard were the world's most ardent believers in companionate marriage. Solomon, being more humane, permitted the old wrecks to hang around the place, even after the new model had arrived.

HELEN ROWLAND

Forty may be the age of discretion; but somehow, it never seems to make a man stop and wonder just why a flapper of twenty should find his double chin and bald spot so fascinating.

Lots of the modern girl's joy and excitement consist in thinking how much worse some other girl's legs look in the short skirts than hers do.

"Love" is what makes one kind of man hang around the house all day and torment a woman—and another kind of man leave her alone all evening while he works at the office to pay her charge accounts.

Love is the source of most of a man's virtues—and the eternal excuse for all his sins.

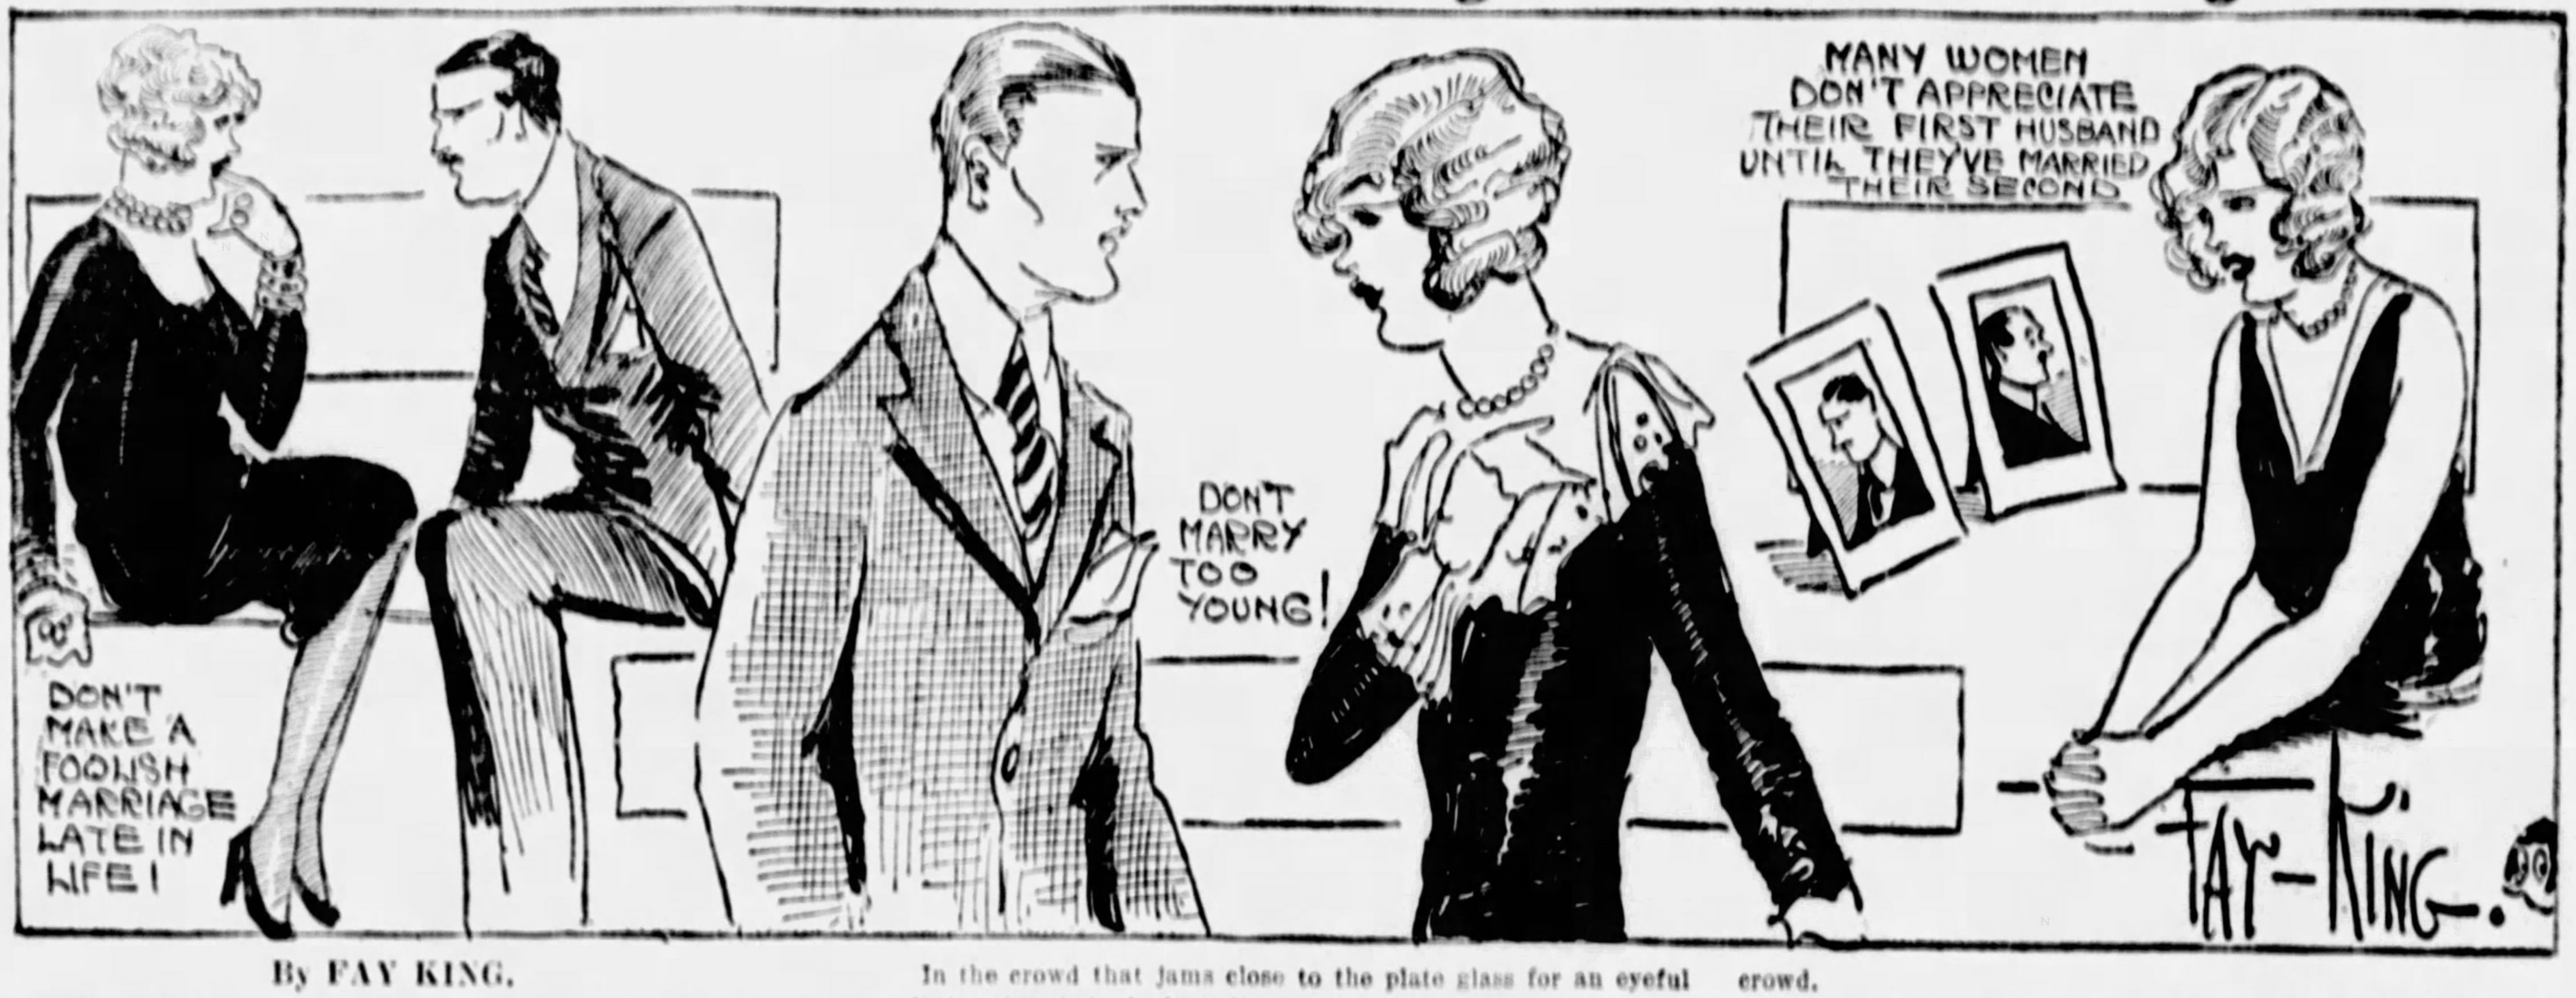
Fay King Talks Seriously About Marriage



DON'T MAKE A FOOLISH MARRIAGE LATE IN LIFE!
DON'T MARRY TOO YOUNG!
MANY WOMEN DON'T APPRECIATE THEIR FIRST HUSBAND UNTIL THEY'VE MARRIED THEIR SECOND FAY-KING

By FAY KING.

IF ANY one doubts the popularity of marriage they should note the crowds that gather in front of a shop window in which we see models of a bride and her bridesmaids.

In the crowd that jams close to the plate glass for an eyeful are little white-haired old ladies, gay young school girls, widows and divorcees!

And there are often as many men as women in the admiring crowd.

And why shouldn't we all be interested in marriage? It is an important event that comes to most everyone if they wish.

Virtually everyone can marry, if they will! Those who have not married just didn't want the one they could have and could not have the one they wanted.

One cannot say which will be a happy marriage and which will not! Marriages which have been solemnized in the most ideal way from every angle have gone on the rocks; other marriages, that no one thought could be a success, have lasted a lifetime.

However, in most cases it is a risk to marry too young, for the one we desperately adore at 16 we wouldn't look at when 20!

It is also dangerous to marry in haste late in life, when one is apt to be wooed for their worldly goods!

Many foolish wives have not appreciated their first husband until after they married the second, for whom they left the first.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Saturday, April 14

If one would control Fate it must be by knowledge of what to expect and when.—LLEWELLYN GEORGE.

A PARTICULARLY lively and interesting day, but one not notable for large issues, is forecast by the sidereal activities. Their very interesting configurations will react on all business, professional and personal affairs, all of which should be prosperous and pleasant. It is an auspicious time for new contracts and understandings in business, employment and socially and personally.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a very lively and happy year with all the affairs engaging lively attention and thriving. Social, artistic and professional affiliations should predominate over the more sordid.

A child born on this day will have many splendid talents and graces, fitting it for the higher and finer activities of life, where its success lies.

Notable Nativity: George S. Silver.

For the Lovelorn -:- By ELEANOR GALE

"Lover of Music"

DEAR MISS GALE:

Having received advice from you before which has helped me a lot, I come to you again. Here is my problem: I am 18 years old and not hard to look at, but am not popular which is my own fault because I never care to go anywhere, to meet friends. I do not know how to dance. But there is a certain fellow that is a lovely dancer. Do you think it would be proper for me to ask him to teach me how to dance or will he think that I'm running after him? The truth is I care for him very much but I do not know how to show it to him. Can you suggest a way to show that I care for him? Is it proper for a girl to ask him to dance with her a certain dance if he does not make an attempt to ask her? Wishing you luck.

LOVER OF MUSIC.

If you know this boy well, it would be all right to ask him to teach you to dance. However, give him no indication that you care for him, or you will frighten him away from you. Let the boy do the inviting to dance, my dear.

Lovely Little Lover

DEAR MISS GALE:

I have been reading the Lovelorn column for a long time and enjoy it very much. Now, I kiss and pet, but I am respected anyway, but know you think it is not right. Now, I would like to know whether you think a married man should flirt with young girls.

LOVELY LITTLE LOVER.

Of course a married man shouldn't flirt, my dear. You know that as well as I do.

Correspondents are reminded that all letters sent to this department must be written on one side of the paper only, and that no personal replies are ever given.

Worried

DEAR MISS GALE:

I am a young fellow 21 years old, and I have read your wonderful advice for about two years. I have come to you to help me solve a very serious problem. I do not believe in drinking, or petting, but I do smoke a few cigarets. I have been going with a steady girl for the past year and a half, and I found myself very much in love with her. When I first started to go with her my parents never said a word to me, but now they object. They say, if I don't give her up they will disinherit me so I don't know what to do. My parents want me to marry a certain girl in our town, and I don't like her because she's everybody's girl. I told my girl friend my troubles and she says she doesn't care, and that she will stick to the end with me. Miss Gale, my parents will do anything to keep me from seeing her so I don't know what to do, marry her, or give her up. To give her up will be almost impossible for we care too much for each other. Please do tell me, so I could make my parents understand, for that's all I have been doing for the last four months.

WORRIED.

Don't let anyone force you into an unwelcome marriage, Worried. Can't you stand on your own feet if your parents do disinherit you? Wait another year and see how matters develop, but don't give up the girl you love.

"Lizzie"

DEAR MISS GALE:

I have never written to you before, but will try to now. I am a girl, 15 years of age. I have been married 3 months. Now, Miss Gale, I am very sorry I am married, for my husband doesn't allow me any freedom at all. He won't let me talk or even go to a show with my old boy friends, although he knows them just as well as I do. Now, Miss Gale, you know there is no sense in his being so strict. He and I are always fighting, and I simply will not cook or do anything for him. He is always saying, "It was you that asked me to marry you." I didn't exactly ask him, but I will admit I gave pretty good hints. But, Miss Gale, he didn't have to marry me if he didn't want to. I don't agree with you on the questions of petting, drinking and smoking. I will say when I go out with a bunch of boys I always drink, smoke and pet. And I really will say I sure did get a kick out of it. One night I did not feel very good and I refused to pet, drink, or smoke, and my husband (this was before I was married) did not like it a bit, so I did just to please him. And I always do and I find no harm in it. And I ask you to give me advice as to how to get my husband to give me more freedom. We have never been to a show together since we have been married.

LIZZIE.

My dear little girl, tragic as it is you are married now and your husband is right in not permitting you to go out with other boys. It is all right to talk with them if you see them, of course, but you would ruin your reputation if you went to shows with them. And it is your duty to keep house. What did you expect when you married? I am more sorry for you than I can say, for no girl of your age is ready to settle down. But I hope your letter will be a warning to some of the girls who write me.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

by Royal S. Copeland M.D.
U.S. Senator From New York

Facts About Palsy—Not So Bad as It Appears

A LADY has written me twice, she says, asking for an article on "Parkinson's disease." I beg pardon for overlooking the first letter—apparently it went astray. Anyhow, I hasten to comply with this request.

The common name for this ailment is "shaking palsy." The doctors call it "paralysis agitans."

The chief symptom is the rhythmic, regular trembling of certain muscles. There may be nodding of the head, or shaking of the hands. The tremor never stops after it becomes established. In the beginning it may be controlled by effort of will.

Shaking palsy is rarely met before the age of 50. It attacks men more frequently than women. It is almost never seen in persons under 40.

Hard mental work, fear, anxiety, shock to the nervous system from any cause, are the chief causes. It sometimes follows an injury.

Before the marked symptoms of Pakinson's disease are noted, there may be signs of a disturbed nervous system. A person heretofore good-natured and calm may become cross and irritable.

There is often an inability to sleep. For hours the sufferer lies awake, tossing about the bed. A third symptom which may be observed before the trembling and shaking are noticed, is weakness of the arms and legs.

It is not uncommon to have a peculiar motion of the fingers. The thumb rests against the forefinger and there is a restlessness of thumb and finger with a motion as if the victim were rolling a pill between them.

But the trouble does not stop here. The tremors travel up the leg on the same side. It is not long before the limbs on the other side take on the movements.

As the palsy progresses, the head is bowed and the body bent. The elbows are bent and stand out from the body.

As the victim attempts to walk his movements become a rapid trot. There is difficulty in stopping after once getting in motion.

The face muscles grow stiff. After a while the expression is fixed like a mask.

At first the speech is slow and monotonous in tone. Later it is hurried.

Fortunately the disease rarely proves fatal. It runs a chronic course and some acute illness is responsible for serious results.

I have described shaking palsy more for the sake of general information than for any other purpose. Treatment is far from satisfactory, but after all this is not a thing to lament. Since there is very likely to be no serious effect, the only thing to mourn over is the embarrassing tremor. The family and friends learn to disregard this symptom and the afflicted one forgets it.

The simple rules of hygiene, plain food, fresh air, sunlight and the other practices everybody should follow, are the important things to remember by the person troubled with Parkinson's disease.

BIRGER WINS STAY BY INSANITY PLEA

LAST MINUTE MOVE FOILS GALLOWS

By KENT HUNTER,
International News Service.

BENTON, Ill., April 13—The ghostly arm of Russell Scott reached out from the shadowland to which he went as a suicide to bridge the swinging gallows trapdoor upon which Charlie Birger, "scourge of Egypt" and head of the most desperate gang in the criminal annals of Illinois was to have stood today and pay his debt to society.

An exact copy of the insanity plea upon which Scott won a last minute stay of execution late last night invoked that section of the Illinois criminal law which prohibits the dealing of capital punishment to those of unsound mind.

And today Birger, sitting in his cell, which looks out over the stockade and the 13 steps to the scaffold upon which he was to have realized the meaning of Friday, the thirteenth, chuckles in alternate fear and scorn.

"It's a break," was his only comment when Jim Pritchard, ex-soldier sheriff of Franklin county, notified him of the action taken in the local courts and which guarantees him at least four more days of life.

Then, as the sheriff passed on down the brightly lighted corridors of the jail, lighted to prevent any of the reports of a rescue plan from becoming a reality, Birger talked again, more to himself than to the armed guard who sat, ever watchful, in a cell across the aisle.

"But at that," he said, aloud, "I'd rather walk up those 13 steps out there than spend the rest of my life with the nuts at Chester."

The action which won Birger his stay came as a surprise move and a last ditch redout of Attorney Robert E. Smith of the defense.

The attorney appeared before Judge Charles H. Miller at 9 o'clock at night and filed the petition for a stay, signed by Nathan Birger, a nephew of the man who had heard for two days the drums of doom, the hammering of carpenters' hammers erecting his death perch.

The petition charged that Birger, since his incarceration in the Franklin County Jail, after his conviction at Quincy for the murder of Mayor Joe Adams of West City on December 12, 1926, has become insane. The petition charged that Birger is a lunatic, that he is a victim of a mental disease and incapable of realizing that he is under sentence of death. It stated further that he believes himself a victim of persecution and punishment by his guards, that they keep him from sleep and that he refuses to eat because his food will have been fouled and poisoned by his enemies.

It charged, in addition, that because of his mental condition he has refused to eat or sleep, or see his friends of take proper steps to safeguard his interests and rights.

It sets forth that extra guards have been necessary to keep him from doing bodily harm to himself and to others.

Judge Miller, after the petition had been filed, and State's Attorney Roy C. Martin had argued against its acceptance, pointed out that under the law the insanity hearing must be granted and a sanity jury empanelled to decide upon the question of Birger's mental condition.

He ordered a sanity jury drawn, and stated that the hearing on that phase of the case will start Monday. A stay, meantime, was granted until next Tuesday morning.

Ancient Records Vindicates Weather

BEAVER, Pa., April 13.—An aged resident here has dug up records of a century and a quarter ago to show that this spring has been no more contrary than some of the years of long ago. A record of 1799, showed on March 22 orchards were in bloom. In December, 1799, all rivers were frozen and below zero prevailed. In February, 1800, there was snow two feet deep but spring opened early with peach trees in bloom April 7, and nearly all the corn had been planted. But the summer was very wet, and distillers found their grain half malted by nature. May 5, 1803, four inches of snow lay on the ground and heavy frosts killed nearly all the crops and fruit.

PRISONER FREED OVER BREAD AND WATER DIET

CUMBERLAND, Md., April 13.—A sandwich and coffee for breakfast and bread and water for dinner and supper is not sufficient fare for prisoners, Judge Albert A. Doub yesterday notified city officials. He released Sarah Quinn, Negro, a prisoner, on a habeas corpus petition, when police admitted the bread and water diet, although he believed her guilty of the charge on which she was held.

Men and Women! How Much Weight Would You Like to Quickly Gain?

One Very Thin Man Gained 28 Pounds in Eight Weeks

A woman quickly loses her charm and attractiveness when she gets below normal weight.

Her health also is apt to suffer and that means a decrease in energy and vivacity.

Some women have become so thin that people call them scrawny or skinny. Many underweight women are more to be pitied than blamed—they don't know what to do to gain flesh and attractiveness.

People are underweight because the food they eat is not assimilated—does not get into the blood to build firm, healthy flesh.

Correct this condition and weight will undoubtedly go to normal and that haggard look and flabby skin ought to disappear.

Burl Craig, of Indianapolis, speaks highly of McCoy's Tablets as a builder of weight and strength.

Read This Letter:

"I highly recommend McCoy's Tablets. They have helped me wonderfully. Before I took them I felt tired and run-down and lazy and didn't want to do a thing but lie around, now I feel fine and work all the time and have gained both weight and strength, thanks to McCoy's Tablets."

McCoy's Tablets are sugar-coated and easy to take—old folks and children who are run down and thin take them readily, but read McCoy's fair and square offer.

McCoy takes all the risk—read this ironclad guarantee. If after taking four 60-cent boxes of McCoy's Tablets or two one-dollar boxes any thin, underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least five pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price.

The name McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets has been shortened—just ask for McCoy's Tablets at May's Drug Stores or any drug store in America.

WALL TOPPLES KILLS DRIVER OF TRACTOR

When a retaining wall at the Forbes street end of the Boulevard of the Allies gave way last night permitting a tractor to overturn, William Perry, 26, of 1205 Carson street, the driver, was killed.

His death occurred shortly after he had been taken to the Mercy Hospital.

Perry was employed by Booth & Flinn, Ltd., and had just hauled a wagon over soft ground where excavating was being done. It is supposed the weight of the tractor on the soft earth toppled the wall.

AVOID UGLY PIMPLES

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c, 30c, 60c.

LOCAL MAN FEELS YEARS YOUNGER

Undergoes Big Change When Ten Herbs Benefits Stomach, Liver and Kidneys

"Since taking Ten Herbs, I am a different person and feel years younger," was the statement of Mr. Henry Reber, 315 Seward Street, Duquesne Heights, Pittsburgh, to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at May's

MR. HENRY REBER

Main Store, 529 Liberty Ave., Pittsburgh, where he is daily demonstrating this new herbal medicine. "Although I am only a little past 50, I have been declining in health for several years," continued Mr. Reber, who is an electrician.

"My stomach was so badly disordered, I had to be careful what I ate—anything greasy put me in misery. Nearly all foods disagreed with me. Gas would form and I would feel full and bloated. I was constipated all the time and used physics continually. My liver was sluggish, and I seemed to fill with bile. I had dizzy spells and felt drowsy; and had no ambition or energy. My kidneys seemed to cause the pains in my back, and if I stooped over I could hardly straighten up. I slept poorly, as I was getting more or less nervous.

"I was beginning to feel years older than my age, when a friend told me about Ten Herbs. I started taking it, and am now on my fourth bottle. I have a fine appetite and can eat almost anything without trouble afterwards—no more gas or bloating. My bowels are regular, and my liver and kidneys are working the way Nature meant them to. The bilious and dizzy spells have left me, and my skin has cleared. I arise in the morning feeling full of vim and vigor and ready for the day's work, and the pains are gone from my back. Ten Herbs gave me such splendid results, that I am certainly glad to add my name to the list of people who have publicly recommended your medicine."

The Ten Herbs Man is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine. He will be glad to tell you how to take it to get the best results. Free sample given.

The Grand Sheik said the cult's headquarters were in Chicago. Magistrate Orie ruled that things would happen if the Grand Sheik were not at headquarters from now on. The court gave the Grand Sheik 24 hours to say goodbye to his brother sheiks.

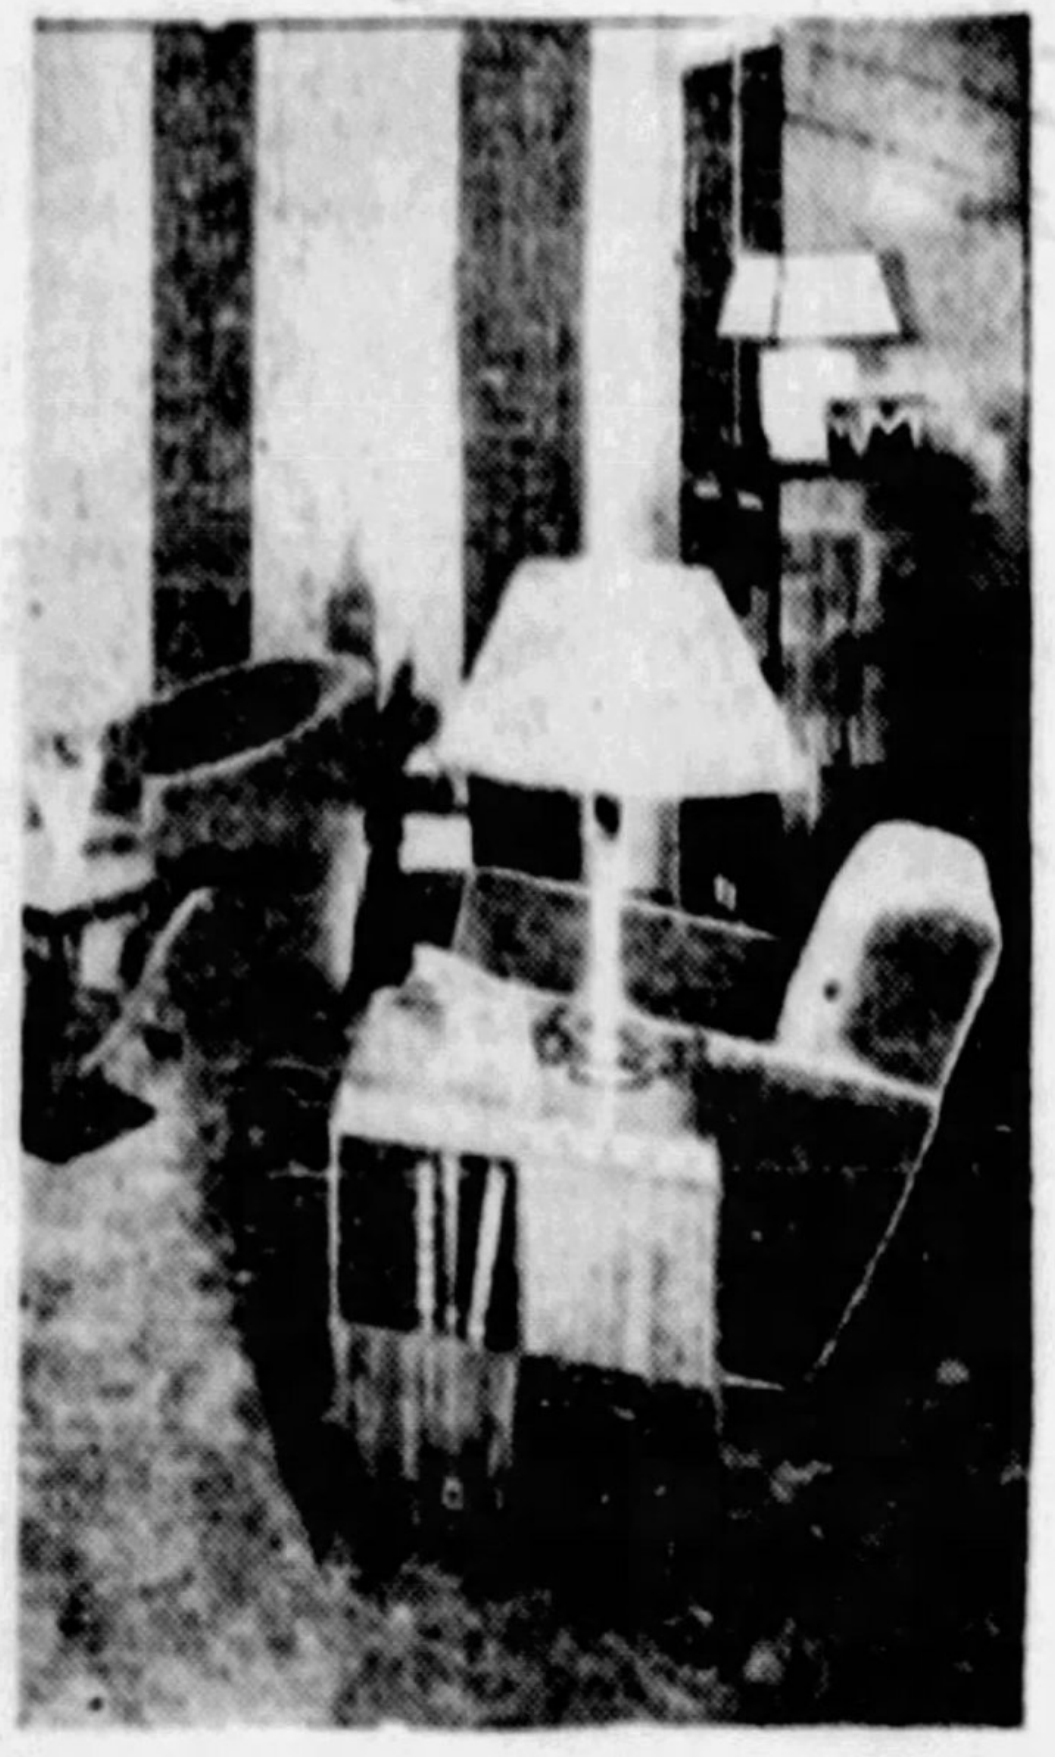
THE MODERN SALON

The Modern Art which William Morris pioneered in the middle of the nineteenth century, and which since 1901 has spread its influence far and wide over Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Poland, Germany, Austria and France—Kaufmann's has given a

Permanent Home



In 1925, in Paris, a concentration of this art, under the auspices of the French Government, brought world-interest to this new phase of interior decoration, and Kaufmann's, in November, 1926, during the International Exposition of Arts and Industries brought many examples of this art to Pittsburgh. The Modern Salon was designed by one of the greatest architects of the Viennese School. Into it he has poured genius and affection and the skill that ripens only with years of application. The Salon now takes its place as an integral unit of Kaufmann Furniture Service, and all that is WORTHY in this Modern movement will have refuge there.

Why We Behave Like Human Beings

by George A. Dorsey, Ph.D., LL.D.

To Live and to Learn Is to Take Many Chances

There Is Mystery of Mushrooms And the Telling of Time by the Stomach and Passing Events

The knowledge that is power consists of the things that we have learned in the hard school of life, Dr. Dorsey told readers of The Sun-Telegraph yesterday. We begin acquiring this education at birth; it never should stop. The indispensability of data, self-acquired, to human behavior.

What Nose Knows and Ears Tell

CHAPTER LVII.

WE RESPOND to stars by looking at them; to trees by climbing them, by seeing them in sunshine, in fog, in rain, by moonlight, in summer and winter and spring and autumn. By and by we know trees.

And hear them also with two ears. On a dark night we hear a suspicious sound. We "strain" our ears, turn our head to the right, to the left; if now one ear does not receive more stimulus than the other we decide the sound is in front of us; it may be behind us.

GEORGE A. DORSEY

Telephone bell, motor horn, railway whistle, footstep, mouse gnawing, bumblebee: we know these sounds. By their intensity we also judge of their distance. But if the sound is quite new to us, we cannot judge its distance by its intensity.

When a child, I heard a chick in a pasture field crying for its mother hen; I began to look for it. Every now and then I would hear it again. For 10 minutes I searched, all the while becoming more mystified. I happened to look up: high overhead a hawk was circling around. The "chick" was a hawk! Its cry was so like that of a chick that I had been completely fooled. But we learn to distinguish many diverse objects by the sounds they make. We may walk blindfolded through a street and hear ice, wood and coal chopped; wood, ice, stone and steel sawed; hammering, filing, the drawing of a rusty nail, jangle of coins and keys, rattle of dice, rending of silk or paper, scream of a terrified child, "the car rattling o'er the stony street."

Ears and Nose

Without eyes, much of the world vanishes; but the blind man picks up sounds and echoes so far beyond our untrained ears that we give him credit for "another sense." The woodman picks up sounds in the forest of no meaning to the city man; others that fail to reach his ears. But the city man gets even when the woodman comes to town: he cannot hear himself think, nor knows whether the fire siren is a mile away or around the corner.

The nose does its bit in our learning of life and things, and what to leave alone and when the other fellow should take a bath. We can get used to smells. We can also cultivate our rather inferior olfactory organ and without eyes or ears come to distinguish many cheeses, tobaccos, beverages, foods, salt air and all that pertains to the sea. With nose alone, in Manchuria, one can distinguish a Japanese from a Russian railway station. The Japanese are clean.

We learn time by the passing events. We have our own rhythms for heartbeat, breathing, talking, walking, eating, etc., all of value in acquiring time sense. The stomach is a good clock. Where is the sun? Daylight, nighttime. The banks are closed, the evening paper has come. Or the birds have tuned up. Or the cocks are crowing. What time is it; how far have we moved? How long have I been sitting here; how much work have I done, how hungry am I, how tired, or how many pipes have I smoked? Time does not stand still. We learn to move with it.

The body itself is the great learner. General kinesthetic and special equilibrium organs in our ears give us great knowledge of the world. Movement in muscles can serve as stimulus as well as a ray of light in the eye. Before we learn to dance or play tennis or introduce the speaker of the evening, we learn to walk on two feet. The knowledge the body picks up as it walks through life is a reservoir of learning from which we draw as from an unlimited bank credit.

Live and Take Chances

Some of us have no sense, but it is a misshapen, misspent and unlearned motor mechanism which has no sense.

Our senses often fail us; our perception is at fault, our experience incomplete, our judgment wrong, our knowledge inefficient. But to live is to take a chance. These look like mushrooms; the cook says they are mushrooms; I take a chance. Were they mushrooms?

As the diameter of the earth is less than 9,000 miles, I do not like the idea that the diameter of Betelgeuse is 200,000,000 miles. It makes us small potatoes. I take no chance. I say: "Bah! How does he know? He has never been there!" Or perhaps I ask another astronomer. He says: "No, not two, but four hundred million miles!" I like that less than the other figure. It is "hard to believe."

Which astronomer told the truth? Both it seems. That star pulsates like a mighty throbbing heart in a vast universe, expanding, contracting. It was measured at two different times, hence the different results obtained for its diameter.

The immediate world that we come to know in our process of learning to be human also expands and contracts. Of many things we come to know more; of many things we thought we knew we come to realize we know next to nothing at all. But, expanding or contracting, the world we know is the world in which we live and believe.

FLAUNTED!

Yet there were those on the downtown streets, near the Statistical Photographer's co-partner, a ladder, who flaunted the age-old superstitions. Take that young lady 'way over on the left; she's superstitious, the camera says. Centered are close friends whose views differ. Above is a young lady—well, she's either brave or preoccupied.

SUPERSTITIOUS?

Perhaps they're not all superstitious, but at least they're a bit—maybe only a little bit—cautious! That's the full report of The Sun-Tele's statistical photographer, after a half-hour's intensive study of Pittsburgh's reactions to Friday the 13th.

JUDGE CALLS HALT IN OIL TRIAL

By GEORGE E. DURNO.

International News Service

WASHINGTON, April 13.—The Sinclair oil conspiracy trial came to a temporary halt this morning to enable Justice Jennings Bailey to spend a week-end wrestling with the first real complex problem to come before him for ruling.

The efforts of the prosecution to lay before the jury the story of Harry F. Sinclair's final financial transaction with former Secretary of Interior Albert B. Fall, and the further story of Fall's $100,000 "loan" from E. L. Doheny, forced the temporary adjournment.

Bailey announced he would make a final ruling on Monday, but he indicated he was inclined to exclude the desired evidence.

Prosecutor Owen J. Roberts already has shown the jury that a total of $304,100 in Liberty Bonds passed from Sinclair to Fall during the spring of 1922 when the oil man acquired title to the Teapot Dome naval oil reserves. This morning, he tried to show that a final $35,000 was given Fall in the summer of 1923 for a trip to Russia. The defense objected on the ground the last date in the indictment did not come up to that date.

During the course of the argument, which took place with the jury out of court, Roberts also indicated his intention of calling E. L. Doheny, Jr., to tell of his father's dealings with Fall in securing a lease on the Elk Hills oil reserve, and the defense lawyers announced they thought this, too, was irrelevant.

"I am trying to show that Fall was in a corrupt state of mind," said Roberts. "The final $35,000 was given to Fall under circumstances that would tend to prove that. So would the $100,000 transaction with Doheny."

Will Confident Bremen Will Make It

ROCHESTER, N. Y., April 13.—As I wire this from Rochester we haven't heard anything from the German and Irish fliers yet, but I will be in New York standing with Casey Jones on Mitchel Field all day today. I don't know, but I just believe they are going to make it. I met this Irishman over in Ireland and I just can't picture him anything but alive. Politics can wait, this is important business we got to think of today. I am going to be a looking, a hoping and doing a little amateur praying.

KILLER TO FACE MURDER CHARGE

A murder charge will be lodged against Stanley Rodgowski, 22, of 10 Kirkpatrick street, Lieut. David Corbett of the homicide squad, said today after the death last night in Homeopathic Hospital, of Adam Kazen, 43, of 157 Moultrie street.

Rodgowski is alleged to have beaten Kazen with a pool cue and a club in Kazen's poolroom, 21 Brady street, last Friday night. Rodgowski told detectives Kazen had made a slighting remark about Rodgowski's wife. Two children are orphaned.

The Jinx'll Git Ya If Ya Don't Watch Out

By L. A. MacDONALD

You, who believe in omen, sign,
Or other superstitious lore,
Had best look sharp or you'll repine
For what this dark day has in store.
The Imp of Evil stalks your path,
Ill-luck is waiting with an ax;
Woe, bigger than the man of Gath,
Awaits to fell you in your tracks.

Get out the fabled rabbit foot,
And polish up your lucky charm;
You'll need some dragon blood, to boot,
To keep you fully free from harm.
'Neath ladders do not dare to walk;
And if a black cat cross your way,
Invoke some fetish that can balk
The feline curse it holds this day.

You ask what harsh fates darkly loom,
So fraught with direful portent,
That threat you with an early tomb,
And business with the Hades gent?
One peek at the old almanac
Will quickly wise you up, I weent
This jinxful date, alas, alack!
Is FRIDAY—and—THIRTEEN.

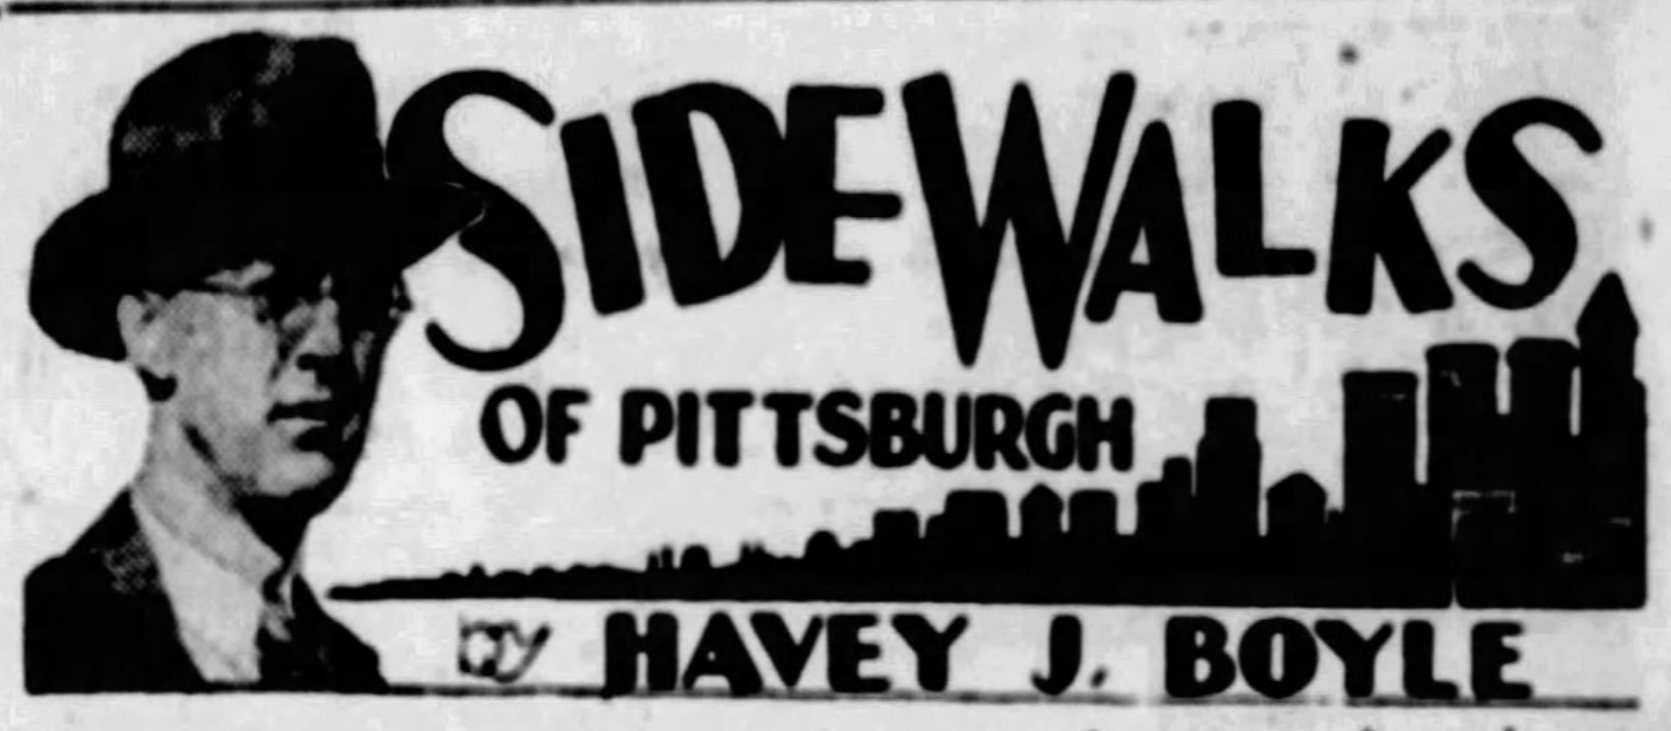
SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH



BY HAVEY J. BOYLE

A VISIT to the Pitt Theater, where a stock company has taken up headquarters for a summer run, prompts an observation or two about stock actors and audiences that patronize stock companies. In the theatrical swirl both classes are unique.

A stock actor must, perforce, be a glutton for work. He plays a role this week, while he is rehearsing the role for the following week, and in his spare moments, if any, he is reading the play which will be presented two weeks hence to get an outline of its plot and character.

Sometimes he escapes for a few moments from his routime of tedium by virtue of the fact that one of the plays scheduled has been done by him before. Nevertheless, the work of a stock actor is of a grinding nature and the wonder is not that now and then some of his work is below par so much as that so much of it is Grade A.

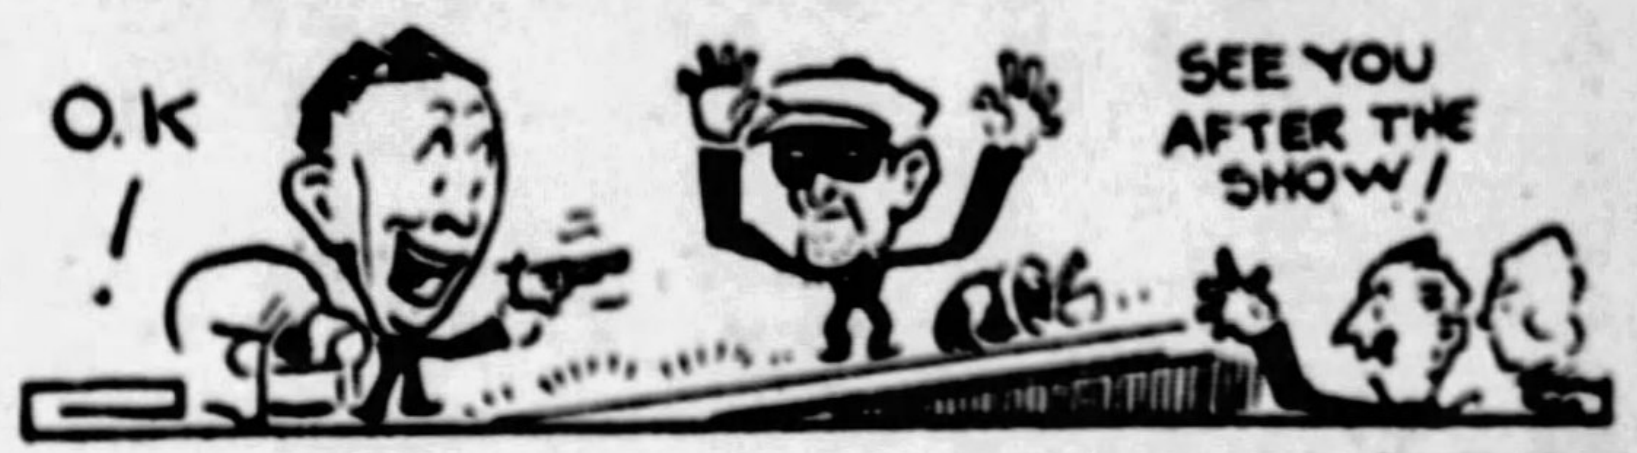
STOCK company audiences develop an affection for their heroes, heroines, juveniles and ingenues that must somehow repay for the exacting work of the actors and actresses. Applause is plentiful, the giggles are generously sprinkled, and the tears, when the cue is for them, represents nothing less than a spring freshet.



O.K !
SEE YOU AFTER THE SHOW!

THIS helpful attitude, it seems here, has but one drawback to the neutral who attends the play. Often the dialogue and the unwinding of the plot is interrupted considerably as each favorite of the company makes Entrance A in the first act. The actor, instead of saying (as the lines may call for): "Well, well, if it isn't Jack, old boy back from college," must say the lines with one eye of recognition directed toward his friends in Row B and Row C who will not let the play go on until he bows acknowledgement of his greeting. This is not always peculiar to entrances of stock actors, as sometimes, when even bigger fish visit the local theatrical streams, they must bow low in recognizing the cheers from the galleries. But there is no question, however gratifying to the actors, that such demonstrations do destroy the illusion that the neutral observer likes to have once he seats himself in that glorious sphere of the world of make-believe.

WHETHER the actors and actresses in question would go along with a suggestion that the clapping of hands be dispensed with upon their initial appearance, and then as everyone wishes, have it doubled after the act is over, is something we cannot set forth, but it seems here that even the performers must see their art slump off a bit, when, instead of walking into a play in character, they must, in reality, walk out among old friends and wave to them, in effect, out of character.

WE WOULD further take some joy out of life, by asking, not only in stock company theaters, but in all theaters, that a huge sign be placed in the lobby exhorting, pleading and commanding that caramels with papers on them be left outside.

THE act of eating caramels while a play is going on would not be quite so vexatious if the caramel-eaters would, with one bold stroke, remove the crinkling paper, but as the case now stands the caramel-eater furtively, judiciously (she thinks) and slyly fumbles with the caramel and paper until the operation is extended over a period four times longer than if the attack were made boldly.

CLAIMS PICKETS CALL HIM SHEIK

Gene Pardoe objects to being called "sheik" and "the Dormont Butterfly."

This developed at the hearing on the application of the McClane Mining Company, of Treveskyn, for an injunction to restrain P. T. Fagan and about 25 others, members of the United Mine Workers of America, from interfering with and hurling epithets at the company's employes.

Pardoe is a son of Frank Pardoe, superintendent, and works in the mine. It is alleged the strikers form picket lines of 60 to 80 men and intimidate the non-union miners, including Pardoe. They also use megaphones.

Oliver K. Eaton, counsel for the mine workers, denies the men were disorderly. He says all assemblies are on the union's own property in the vicinity of the mine.

The union claims that the McClane company violated its agreement.

MAGEE QUIZZES KLINE OVER SPLIT

The attitude of Mayor Charles H. Kline toward the congressional fight in the Thirty-fifth district is at variance with that of State Chairman W. L. Mellon, former Congressman James M. Magee, one of the candidates, declared today in an open letter to the Mayor and County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong.

Pointing out that the Mayor has declared for Harry A. Estep and is setting up the organization for him, while Mellon said the contest should be decided by the people of the district, Magee reminded Kline of the so-called "bread and butter" speech made by him in 1926, when he ordered the city employes to support the organization ticket. The speech, Magee termed one of intimidation.

"Sincere Republicans of the district," wrote Magee to Armstrong, "may question if you are a proper Republican guide when it is reflected that you stated, under oath, that you supported Senator La Follette for President."

Menu for Sunday Dinner

By PRUDENCE PENNY

RED APPLE SALAD—Choose six rounded apples, pare carefully and scoop out centers. Cook slowly in a syrup made of one cup of water and two tablespoons of red cinnamon candy. After cooking has started, finish in an oven so that the apples will keep their shape, basting frequently. After removing apples, cook the juice to a jelly and pour over the apples. When cool, stuff with chopped celery, white grapes and nuts. This stuffing can be combined with regular mayonnais and whipped cream dressing, although a special dressing made of lemon juice, orange juice, oil and celery salt gives a delightful flavor. Serve on crisp lettuce leaves.

TOMATO SURPRISE SALAD—Stuff large tomatoes from which the centers have been removed with chopped pineapple and nuts mixed with a mayonnaise and whipped cream dressing. Serve on a lettuce leaf. This makes a variety from the usual stuffed tomato.

WINTER FRUIT SALAD—Dissolve a package of lemon jello in a pint of boiling water. While it is cooling, prepare one small can or six medium slices of canned or cooked pineapple, diced; two tart apples, diced; two bananas, diced. Mix the fruit, place it in a mold and set the mold in a pan of cracked ice. When jello begins to thicken, pour it over the fruit. Serve with fruit salad dressing.

CHEESE FONDUE—Three eggs, one cup milk, one snappy cheese, salt, paprika, dry mustard, butter, bread crumbs. Put in a pudding dish a layer of bread crumbs. Cover with small pieces of snappy cheese, season with salt, paprika and dry mustard and add dabs of butter. Add another layer of crumbs and repeat the seasonings. Continue this until the dish is full. Beat the three eggs and add the cup of milk. Pour this mixture over the crumbs and bake in a hot oven for a half hour. Serve at once.

POACHING EGGS—Mrs. C. says that her husband laughs at her poached eggs. I wonder, Mrs. C., whether or not you have in your kitchen the individual muffin tins. If so, you can drop them into the pan of boiling salted water in which you are to poach the eggs. Then drop the eggs into these pans, making sure that the water comes up over the top of the pans. Let the eggs remain until the whites are set, or even longer, if you like hard cooked eggs.

There are regular egg poachers in aluminum. They consist of a large saucepan with a frame into which are slipped individual cups. Boiling water is put in the pan, and a tiny bit of butter into each cup. When the butter has melted, the eggs are dropped in and the pan covered. These are not strictly poached eggs, however.

FRUIT SALAD DRESSING—Beat together two eggs, one-half cup sugar, one and one-half teaspoons flour, and juice of one lemon. Add one cup of pineapple juice and cook until it thickens. Cool. When ready to serve fold in one cup of whipped cream.

CHICKEN WITH PEAS AND POTATO BALLS—Fry chickens a golden brown and garnish with canned peas and parsley potato balls made as follows: Pare potatoes and in balls with potato ball cutter. Place in a small pan and just cover with boiling salted water. Cover and bake. Drain, pour over a little melted butter and som finely-chopped parsley and shake until well coated.

SUNSET SALAD—Soak two tablespoons gelatin in two tablespoons cold water, then dissolve in one cup boiling water. Add two tablespoons sugar and three tablespoons salt, and cool. Add the juice from one-half of a can of crushed pineapple and one cup of grated raw carrot. Mold in a small leaf and cut in slices or mold in fancy shapes. Serve on lettuce with mayonnaise.

MALT ICE CREAM—Put into a double boiler 1 quart of milk and 1½ cups of sugar. When it is thoroughly heated to the boiling point remove a little of it and mix to a paste with three-quarters of a pound of chocolate malted milk. When it is smooth add to the first mixture. Now add two well beaten eggs and cool. Now stir in a quart of light cream and freeze.

EGGS A LA CREOLE—Make depressions on a mound of rice, and break eggs one at a time on a saucer and slip into the depressions. Dot rice and eggs with butter and bake in the oven until eggs are set.

Make a creole sauce, by sauteeing two tablespoons of green pepper, one tablespoonful of pimiento, one tablespoonful of onion and one clove of garlic in two tablespoonfuls of olive oil. The onion and garlic should be minced very fine, the pimiento and green pepper chopped coarsely. When the vegetables are tender add two cups of stewed tomatoes and simmer for about ten minutes. A little flour may be sprinkled over the top and stirred in if you like the sauce thickened a bit. Serve the sauce over the baked eggs and a watercress salad would be nice with this dish.

BAKED EGGS ON THE HALF SHELL—Bake large potatoes until mealy. Cut in half, remove the inside. Put half away to use for fried potatoes next day, mash the other half and add the following: Sautee one teaspoonful each of finely minced onion, celery and green pepper in three tablespoonfuls of bacon drippings. When the vegetables are tender, mash in, drippings and all with the potato. Put back in the shell, not fully filling it. Break an egg into each half shell, dot with butter, sprinkle with parmesan cheese and a little salt and paprika, return to the oven until the eggs are set and serve with a vegetable salad.

STUFFED APPLE SALAD—Mellow apples, leaving the skins on, may be used for a similar salad, if it is preferred to have the uncooked apple, although the red apple salad is well worth the extra time.

THE most important "DON'T" on hard wood floors is, don't use oil on them unless you want them darkened. Brush the dust up with a soft brush and once a month wash them up with a mild soap suds. To keep them in the best of condition they should have a fresh coat of shellac every three to six months, depending on the wear they get. This is not as hard as it sounds, for the shellac drys almost as quickly as you put it on, and can be walked over half an hour after the work is finished. If a wax finish is used the floor will not need to be shellaced so often.

MALT CAKE ICING—Mix two-thirds cup of chocolate malted milk to a thick paste with a little boiling water. Add a few drops of vanilla and spread on the cake.

MALT CREAM PIE FILLING—Mix one-third cup sugar, two-thirds cup malted milk, ½ cup flour, ⅛ teaspoon flavoring in a double boiler. Add 1½ cups of milk, and cook, stirring constantly, until it is thick. Remove from the fire, add 2 well-beaten eggs, return to the fire for a moment and then pour into a baked pie shell. Cool and serve.

CARE OF FLOORS—Mrs. N. wants to know how to care for new hardwood floors. How to remove scratches on furniture and how to refinish a table top spoiled by a hot iron.

IF YOU have a bad scratch, or someone has carelessly left a cigaret where it will do the most harm, pour crude oil on the spot, and with the finest sandpaper obtainable, rub back and forth with the grain of the wood. If you use too coarse sandpaper, or rub against the grain, or rub too long, you make a worse spot than you had before, so use care. Pick the most inconspicuous spot to begin on. When you have finished each spot, take lemon oil and turpentine in equal parts, wring out a cloth in this mixture, wipe off the entire piece of furniture, wring out a cloth in cold water, wipe off the excess oil with this, and lastly, polish with a woolen cloth.

If you clean your furniture once a month in this manner you will be amazed by the results.

Leading Grocers All Over the City

We're working together to give you a real WALNUT bargain

These New Reduced Prices Make Walnuts an Even Better "Buy"

Have you wondered at the remarkably low prices on Walnuts that are being quoted all over town?

"How can they do it?" you've probably asked.

Well, here's the answer in a word: "Co-operation!"

In our big growers' association we have learned that co-operation pays—not merely co-operation among ourselves, but also co-operation with the public.

When perfect growing weather gave us a bumper crop this year, we co-operated by passing on to you the production economies which resulted.

Then your grocer did his part—he also co-operated—by selling you this season's even better Walnuts at the lowest prices in twelve years.

Cheap Already—Now Even Cheaper

And now—right at the peak of the consuming season—we are carrying co-operation even further.

We still have a small fraction of our crop left—and we want you to enjoy these fine Walnuts right now, when they fit so well into the menu. So we have made another reduction in our already-low prices—and they are now even more economical than shelled Walnuts.

And grocers are again co-operating—passing on the price reduction and frequently making especially-attractive "specials" on 2 pounds or 3 pounds at a time.

A City-Wide "Bargain Sale"

You know how it is when your favorite department store puts on a sale. There's a time limit. It doesn't last forever.

And it's the same in this case. There's only a limited supply of Walnuts—and the new crop doesn't come in for six months.

So don't delay! Tell your grocer that you want to take advantage of his bargain prices on Diamond Walnuts.

Be sure to look for the Diamond trademark branded on every Walnut. It is your guarantee that even though you pay less than you used to pay for ordinary Walnuts, you are getting the very finest the market affords.

DIAMOND

USE THEM TO BRIGHTEN UP YOUR SPRINGTIME MEALS

That daily problem of variety in your meals! Here's an easy way to solve it—use Walnuts to sparkle up other foods!

There's no need to change your way of cooking—no special receipts to follow. Just add these flavory kernels to the receipts you're already using.

For instance, gingerbread, muffins, or waffles! Mix chopped Walnuts right in the batter. You see there's no extra work, to speak of—just extra flavor, extra goodness, extra appetite appeal.

Walnut snails are always welcome

The same holds true for vegetables—scalloped, creamed or stuffed. Walnuts give them a delightful newness you'll enjoy.

Naturally, when you think of desserts you think of Walnuts, too. Just notice your baker's display! He knows what folks like—that's why he uses Walnuts so generously to make icings and fillings, as decoration on cookies, tarts, snails, tea rings and the like. And it's so easy to do the same thing at home.

Every day—there are so many chances to use Walnuts. And what marvelous results you get! Certainly it's worth your while to have a supply always on hand.

And—for the finest Walnuts—buy only those with the Diamond trade-mark branded right on the Walnut shell.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Marriage of Winifred Croft to Head List of Many Important Weddings Scheduled for May

FOR a long time it looked as though the lovely month of May, in spite of its praises sung by poets for centuries, were to be slighted by the brides, but, now that mid-April is nearly here, May dates are being considered.

What will be one of the most important weddings of the year and one of the loveliest, I prophesy, will take place on May 19. Winifred Graham Croft, daughter of the Harry William Crofts, of the Schenley Apartments, has named that date for her marriage to William Stavely Wilson, of New York, son of the late John Alexander Wilsons, of Brooklyn.

And the wedding will not take place in Pittsburgh, but in Greenwich, Conn., where the Crofts have their summer home. The family will leave for Connecticut the latter part of this month, I believe.

Winifred will have as her maid her twin sister, Eleanor, as one would expect. Mrs. Clarence Mitchell, of Chicago, will be matron of honor.

Mrs. Richard Graham Croft, sister-in-law of Winifred, will be one of the bridesmaids. Anna Childs, Margaret Stewart, Mildred Burgwin, Louise Patten and Phyllis Patton, all of this city, as you know, and Mrs. Joseph Donner, of Buffalo, and Mrs. Edward Dewing, of Hartford, Conn., also will be bridesmaids.

Little Mary Augusta Bickel, Winifred's niece, will be flower girl. She is the daughter of the William Forman Bickels, of Westminster place. Mrs. Bickel, you will recall, is the former Florence Graham Croft.

Winifred and her sister, Eleanor, are among the most popular young people of the city. Both "came out" in Pittsburgh.

Mr. Wilson will announce his best man and ushers later, I understand.

Among the mid-April brides will be, you remember, Mary McCann Woods, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Woods, of Sewickley. Her marriage to Edward Alexander Proctor, of Detroit, son of the James M. Proctors, of Washington, D. C., has been set for tomorrow, you know.

The ceremony will take place at 7:30 o'clock in the Sewickley United Presbyterian Church. And the Rev. Dr. Joseph Christy Hamilton will be the officiant.

Mary has asked her sister Sarah to be maid of honor and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Robert M. Woods, of Cleveland, to be matron of honor.

The bridesmaids will be Grace Clarke, of Sewickley, and Madelaine Brosius, of Lock Haven.

Greig Veeder, of Pittsburgh, will be best man and John M. Marshall, of Pittsburgh, and Gordon L. Youngman, of Atlantic City, and Robert W. Woods, of Cleveland, Mary's brother, will be the ushers.

The rehearsal dinner will be given tonight by Grace Clarke in her home, Grove street, Sewickley.

Mary Currier Lewis, who came out in the fall, is in New York with her mother, Mrs. James Edward Lewis. She and her mother are expected back the end of the week.

Many Pittsburghers are making their spring visits to Gotham nowadays. Among them is attractive Eleanor Lewis, daughter of the William H. Lewises, of Devon road, who is now in New York with her mother. They are expected back on Sunday, I understand.

I have an idea that Eleanor was much attracted to New York by the new plays, for, as you know, she is much interested in drama. She studied for a while in the drama school at the College of Fine Arts, Carnegie Institute of Technology.

Her engagement to Dr. George P. Foster was just announced last month.

HAPGOOD, WIFE FREED IN MINE "RIOT" CASE

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., April 13.—(AP.)—Powers Hapgood and his wife, Mary Donovan Hapgood, formerly of New York, charged with inciting to riot in attempting to hold a forbidden mass meeting of miners in Pittston some time ago, were yesterday acquitted by direction of the Luzerne County Court.

Their acquittal was directed by Judge Benjamin R. Jones after Capt. William A. Clark, commander of Troop B, state police, and Police Chief McHale, of Pittston, on cross examination said there was no semblance of rioting at the time the Hapgoods were arrested.

The arrests grew out of the feud among mine workers employed in the No. 6 colliery of the Pennsylvania Coal Company, which resulted in a series of shootings in which four men were killed. Hapgood is employed as a mine worker here and has interested himself in the "save the union" movement.

Disposition was postponed in the case of Theodore Lippzer, of Duquesne, who pleaded guilty to two robbery charges.

JERRY The Epic of a Girl Who Had to Wait · by Elenore MEHERIN

Saxon Tells Jerry He Is Paying His Own Way. She Is Happy

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Jerry King, good looking, charming and nineteen, falls in love with Saxon Rhodes, a young architect. Marza, her fascinating mother, warns her that idealists like Saxon make poor husbands. When he goes abroad to study, Jerry promises to wait for him. Jerry agrees to wait three years longer. She wonders whether Saxon loves her as completely as she loves him. Saxon's attention to Ora Pringle gives Jerry a pang of jealousy. They attend a week end party where things start to happen. She decides to give Saxon up. She discovers that Marza has another daughter of whose existence her husband had ben ignorant. Stephanie, Marza's daughter who was very ill, recovers and they go back home and Jerry finds life one trial after another with Saxon. Mary Eunice is to back Saxon to win in a contest. Jerry is jealous.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

SHE took a defiant joy in this contest. It made her arrogant. She felt sometimes as though she were made of fire, and other times, reckless and triumphant as though she were made of wine.

Now, sitting here sipping coffee from Mary's fine French china, she said impishly. "Well, different men like different things. What type of man, Mary, do you seek to please?"

Mary smiled dreamily, as one who has her choice of the earth's heroes: "The real kind. Jerry—you and Saxon are close friends, aren't you?"

"We've known each other for years."

"You were engaged for years, weren't you? It was quite generally known—so I've heard. The breaking of an engagement, I should imagine worse than the severing of a marriage."

"Why?"

"After marriage comes disillusion. After disillusion the parting is welcome.

"But even today, few people are engaged long enough and intimately enough to be thoroughly disillusioned. I imagine that for the girl there would always remain a residue of hope."

Mary's shadowed blue eyes for a fleeting moment searched Jerry's.

These laughed at her. "That's the usual way of imagining it, Mary. The girl on the screen and in books is always pictured as Doleful Dolores or Weeping Elaine. I suppose Virgil started it all when he had poor Dido climb to the flaming couch and burn herself out with unrequited love."

"How's that for telling the wind's will?" she thought with a tang of exultation.

"I suppose it is an old-fashioned viewpoint. But I can't feature being friends with a man I once loved. I don't see how either one can enjoy or tolerate such a relation. Yet you and Saxon seem to enjoy each other's company very much. He writes to you, doesn't he?"

"And to you, too, Mary?"

A flash across the clear, satin-like skin.

Jerry grinned in her coffee cup: "Didn't like that, ole dear, did you? Puts us on a level! Better watch my step or I'll boot myself out of this excellent job!"

But she went on casually: "I wonder if he has much chance of winning that prize."

"Why, of course. I'm confident he'll win—absolutely confident."

"Do you like his sketches that much, Mary?"

"Don't be silly. He's not made any sketches yet. He's only gone on a survey of the site.

"He'll have a great advantage over the men who couldn't take the trip. He'll be able to suit the architecture to the contour of the land."

"But it costs quite a bit—a trip like that."

"The whole competition will be expensive. But I don't think Saxon is going to worry over the money end of it."

"I think he WILL worry over that," said Jerry.

Mary closed her eyes over mysterious smiles. She was not spiffed and would make no boasts today. "Most likely he's figured the cost and made provision of some kind to meet it."

Jerry came from this meeting with two convictions warring in her mind. Mary was not engaged to Saxon. She was too eager to discover Jerry's position; too openly anxious to learn just how much Jerry might still be counting on him.

So she wasn't sure of her own hold. They were not engaged, but he had permitted her to supply him with the needed funds.

The more she considered this, the more improbable and distasteful it became.

He returned. She made an excuse of business and went to his office.

Three draughtsmen were working. The room was charged with an intent, burning concentration. Saxon was shut off in Paul's office. No one made any move to announce Jerry.

"He may be out in a few moments," one of the men offered.

Jerry waited.

"He's in this too deep now," she thought excitedly. "He won't stop if he has to get the money from hell. The money's of no consequence!"

He opened the door. The tan, fighting face was lean and sharply drawn with the line of restraint that thrilled her.

He saw Jerry. A quick grin lighted his face. "Been wanting to see you. Been wanting to get up to the shop. But I've had to get going. Time's awfully short. I'm afraid to lose a minute," said he, brushing his hair swiftly. "How are you?"

He looked so clean and intent and nervous; so boyishly pleased to see her.

He couldn't be in Mary Penning's clutches and look like this!

CHAPTER L.

"YOU'RE awfully thin and beautiful!" said Jerry laughing and surveying him with open pleasure.

"Left wine and all my women at home. So I'd no choice but to be good. And keep the hair on my temples. I'll have to do that for some time. Walk the chalk line, which you'll be pleased to hear."

"You're going into it with an awful bang, aren't you?"

"I've got to. I'm late in starting. Lost month scheming around on ways and means."

"Is Paul in with you on it? At all?"

"He'll help with suggestions, of course. But the scheme will be mine—and the risk."

"You mean the money end of it? Paul isn't going to back you for the cost?"

"He can't. He's tied up in the south."

"It's going to take a heap of money, isn't it? With three men working? You shan't have to mortgage your soul for it, I hope."

"It's going to cost plenty," said he slowly. "I've got it figured out to the pennies. I think I've just about enough to get by."

"All on your own, Saxon!"

He reached for a pad and paper and began to figure—smiling as he did so. "Lady Luck was with me last year. I made some good money. And despite my wild ways, saved most of it."

He set down initials and opposite these were figures. "Some nice juicy jobs and a half, Jerry. I've $5,500—"

"Oh, you've $5,500 all your own!"

"And I figure it will just about squeak me by. If I lose, I'll be cleaned. But Jerry, if I win!"

He grinned down at her with eager, exultant youngness. "Do you think me a fool to have gambled it all, everything on this one chance?"

"Oh," said she, brimming with relief and hypnotized by his fervor, "You won't lose. Even if you lose, you win, going into it like this."

It could scarcely be plainer. He had $5,500 of his own. He would get by on this and no thanks to Mary Pennings!

Perhaps Mary wanted to back him. Perhaps Mary hoped his fund would dwindle so that she could furnish money and share in the glory of victory. So that she could go about saying: "I'm going to make Saxon the greatest architect in the country. He has the stuff and I'll bring it out!"

Jerry was convinced that Saxon knew nothing of these feminine dreams.

"Well, glad to see you up and at it, ole dear!"

A Clue to the Lincoln Mystery to Be Pursued

MARY closed the door upon her last word, and I sat staring after her with the feeling of one who just has been made the subject of an experiment in telepathy. The girl had voiced the suggestion which had been milling around in my brain ever since I had overheard Eleanor Lincoln's impassioned objection to Dicky's request that for the sitting she had promised him, she should pose with Fedor, the wolfhound. The nervous intensity of the girl's manner had brought back most vividly a scene in her own drawing-room at The Larches when her eyes had widened terrifiedly at Mrs. Townsend's remark that she had seen some painting which reminded her forcibly of Miss Lincoln and Fedor.

I was glad indeed to hear Lillian's knock upon the door. I felt that I needed her advice upon the problem which Eleanor Lincoln presented, and though I guessed that she had many questions concerning Philip Veritzen which she meant to ask me, I gave her no chance to utter them.

"I'm going to stage a monologue," I told her, when we were seated opposite each other. "I simply must get this affair figured out. So please lend me your ears and your mind till I finish. Afterwards, I'll listen to you."

"You may fire when you're ready," she quoted, and I promptly went over every incident of my experience with Eleanor Lincoln, some of which she had heard before and some which she had not. As I finished with Mary's suggestion that I ask Mrs. Townsend to show me a copy of the picture which had reminded the Southampton woman of Miss Lincoln and the dog, Fedor, Lillian nodded her head.

"That, of course, is the thing to do. The key to the mystery obviously is there. The girl's objection tonight to Dicky's suggestion for the pose he wanted confirms that. But you'll have to be canny about it. I think this is a bigger thing than we imagine and we can't set gossiping tongues clacking. You can't let Mrs. Townsend know you are interested in that picture, or that you attach any significance to the incident. But—is there any excuse you can make for calling upon her?"

"There is a matter of a committee list for that charity fete," I remembered.

"Good! If I were in your place I'd get over there as soon as possible. Don't hint pictures, but you're adroit enough to get her to showing you her collection of copies. She's quite proud of them. I understand she makes a fad of binding them beautifully. And—if you do make any surprising discoveries, keep your poker face."

"Do you suppose that Mr. Veritzen also has seen that picture of which Mrs. Townsend spoke?" I asked.

"Why?" she countered quickly.

I told her of the great producer's extraordinary reaction to the discovery that Miss Lincoln intended to pose for a series of Dicky's illustrations. Her eyes narrowed as she listened and I saw that the recital held something of especial interest to her. But her comment when I had finished was a light, mocking one.

"Perhaps the fair Eleanor is Phil's long-lost daughter with the strawberry mark upon her shoulder," she gibed.

"Isn't it more likely that he has fallen in love with her?" I asked, speaking aloud a thought which had come to me at the revelation of Mr. Veritzen's astounding protest against Eleanor Lincoln's posing for Dicky's drawings.

DANDRUFF
A Sure Way to End It
There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring, use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.
By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.
You will find too, all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

SUN-TELEGRAPH SPORTS

SPORT COMMENT

by JAMES J. LONG

"Too Much Alexander" Is Story of Bucs' Second Successive Defeat—His 349th Victory—Only Question of Time Until Pirates Get Going—Frisch's Great Start. Even Minors Reject Jim Thorpe Now.

PITTSBURGH baseball fans are not of the alibi-seeking sort, being ever willing to acknowledge an honest defeat and to give the "other fellow" full credit for having been good enough to administer it.

Grover Alexander

But even if they were of the sort that hunts alibis they'd have a high old time finding one for that Pirate defeat of yesterday, the second in two starts.

It was simply a case of too much Alexander. He had the Bucs at his mercy from start to finish. That's why, in addition to being defeated, they suffered the humiliation of being the first and only team in either major league to be shut out to date.

THE seven runs that the Corsairs made the preceding day would have been enough to win yesterday's game, but old Aleck saw to it that they didn't get them.

So, we're still trouping with the National League's tail-enders, with a victory column that is as bare as Mother Hubbard's well-known cupboard.

Burleigh Grimes did not pitch a bad game, but against Alexander's air-tight hurling his efforts were wasted.

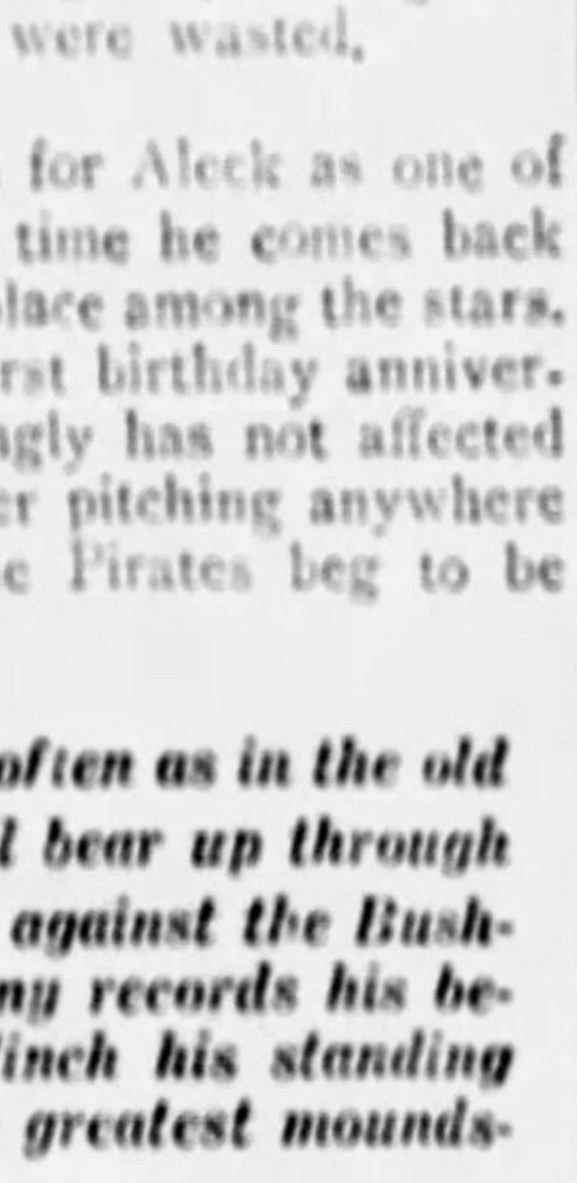
EVERY year they back up the wagon for Aleck as one of baseball's unburied dead, but every time he comes back and demonstrates that he still deserves a place among the stars.

The old wizard celebrated his forty-first birthday anniversary on February 26, but his age seemingly has not affected his slab prowess, for if there is any better pitching anywhere than the veteran uncorked yesterday the Pirates beg to be excused from looking at it.

TRUE, Alexander cannot pitch as often as in the old dys, and it is doubtful if he will bear up through the whole season at his starting gait against the Bushmen, but even if he doesn't smash any records his beginning yesterday was enough to clinch his standing more tightly than ever as one of the greatest moundsmen of all time.

THE most remarkable part of it all is that in his form of yesterday he is good as he ever was.

This is Alexander's eighteenth season in the National League, and his victory over the Pirates yesterday was the 349th he has placed to his credit in the senior major circuit against a total of 188 defeats.



Burleigh Grimes

That spells a percentage of .650, which means that Aleck has won 65 per cent of his games since he broke into the main tent in 1911.

Perhaps there is some other pitcher of the same age who has won 65 per cent of his games since 1911 and is still good enough to go in there and shut out a club that won the pennant last year, but a careful scrutiny of the baseball per cents fails to reveal him.

"WHAT is the secret of Alexander's success at this late stage of his career?" is a question that is frequently asked.

"Control" is the answer. At the age of 41 a pitcher could not be expected to have the same old power in his hurling arm, but while Aleck's wing is not what it used to be he still has such wonderful control that he could throw the ball into the proverbial tincup.

He knows the weakness of every batter in the league, and the hitter is apt to get a headache waiting on the old-timer to give him a good one.

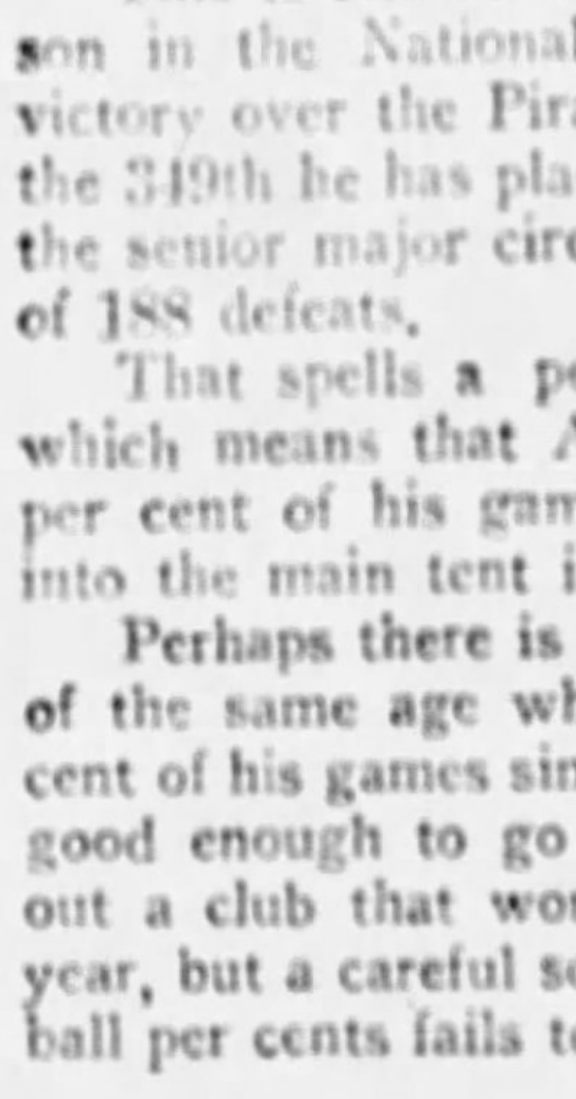
The best you may expect to get from Alexander, even when the count is three balls and no strikes, is a pitch that barely cuts one corner. And he is always figuring at least one pitch ahead, besides.

DESPITE the second defeat of the Picaroons and the added ignominy of being decorated with a row of horse collars, there is no more cause for alarm than there was after the first defeat on Wednesday.

It's simply a case of getting off to a bad start. Of course, every one likes to be right up front with the leaders of the procession, but being at the foot at this early stage of the pennant proceedings carries no dire forebodings. A couple of days may change the entire complexion of things.

So there is nothing to worry about. Every club must have its bad spells as well as its good ones, and the Bucs will be in clover later when some of the clubs that are most fortunate now begin to get some of the breaks of the other variety.

BEING tied at the foot of the procession with the other clubs that have yet to win a game puts the Pirates in a position they did not experience during all of last year. In 1927 they never were lower than fifth place, and were on that round of the ladder for only three days. This was due to the fact that they made a far different start from that of this year, as they won their first three games last season and captured seven of their first eight contests.



Frankie Frisch

THE Pirates might have shown to considerably better advantage in St. Louis on the first two days of the season if a guy named Frisch had been somewhere else.

It looked as if the Giants were getting all the better of it when Frisch was traded for Hornsby, but now Hornsby has been disposed of and McGraw is depending upon young Andy Cohen, while Frisch in St. Louis is starting out like a hurricane. All that he did against the Pirates in the first two games was to make five hits and score five runs in seven times at bat, an average of .714. And that doesn't tell it all, for two of his hits were home runs and two were doubles and he stole a base in addition, besides accepting all of 11 fielding chances.

MAROONS BEATEN IN 4TH GAME

MONTREAL, April 13.—(AP.)—For the second time in the world series for the professional hockey championship, the New York Rangers have drawn up on an equal footing with the Montreal Maroons.

The New York sextet, champion of the American group of the National League, staved off defeat in the five-game competition by turning back the Maroons in the fourth tilt last night, 1 to 0, sending the series the full distance with the final and deciding tussle down for Saturday night. The clubs now stand deadlocked at two games apiece. The Rangers captured the second and fourth clashes while their Dominion rivals annexed the first and third skirmishes.

The lone goal of last night was scored by Frankie Boucher, center, early in the second period when he grabbed a rebound off Benedict's pads and sniped the disc over the flattened body of the Montreal goalie.

LOCOMOTIVE WORKS EMPLOYES TO ROOT FOR BOXER

When Jack Katkish of Lawrenceville meets Jack Zivic, formerly of the same community but now of New York, in the 10-round main bout at Motor Square Garden next Monday, he will have the solid support of the H. K. Porter Company employes. Katty lives just around the corner from the locomotive plant at Forty-eighth and Hatfield streets and is a great favorite with executives and other workers there and they plan to attend the biggest fight of Jack's career to date in a body. Harvey LeFevre, sales manager of the company and a prominent A. A. U. official, and Grant Carson, assistant treasurer of the concern, are two of Katkish's staunchest boosters, while Nick Starr has been acting as an advisory and sub-managerial capacity for Jack since the latter left the mnagement of Jimmy Bronson of New York to go on his own. Incidentally, Zivic still is under the management of Bronson and a feudal touch in this connection is added to the bout between two of the hardest punchers ever developed in this section. The Misses Householder and McKinley are office employes of the H. K. Porter Company who posed with Katkish to show the photographer that they're pulling for Jack to win. Pictures were taken during the lunch hour yesterday.

ALEXANDER HURLS 5-0 WIN OVER CHAMPS

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Sun-Tele Staff Correspondent.

ST. LOUIS, April 13.—Following their disappointing start the Pirates yesterday were actuated by a spirit of hustle that partly had its inception in the meeting held by Manager Bush just before his team took to the field of battle in the inaugural on Wednesday.

At that time, Bush put his cards on the table. The subject of honest endeavor was one of his uppermost thoughts as he talked with his players, he telling them that he

PUBLIC LINKS OPEN MAY 1

By VERNON A. SWARTSFAGER.

The city municipal golf links in Schenley Park will be opened on May first, provided weather conditions permit the completion of preseason work, upon the layout, according to the Bureau of Parks today.

A good bit of work is being done in fixing up the greens and fairways, which will not be finished by May 1 if the weather continues cold. A break of good warm weather will mean a certain opening on May 1, however.

Golfers of the public links throughout the city are eagerly awaiting the opening day. Al McBride again will be the Schenley professional.

Travia Waner Signs With Johnnies

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., April 13.—(AP.)—Travia Waner of Ada, Okla., cousin of the famous Paul and Lloyd Waner of the Pittsburgh Pirate outfield, has accepted terms to play with the Johnstown club of the Middle Atlantic League. He will report next Sunday at Front Royal, Va., where the Johnstown squad will go into spring training.

CHILLY SAUCE

BY CHILLY DOYLE

Sun-Telegraph Staff Correspondent.

ST. LOUIS, April 13.—The Cubs won nearly every exhibition game played in the spring and then jumped into the real stuff like our Pirates. The Yanks played like semi-pros throughout the preliminary season and found their punch at the right time.

IN A terrible outburst of wildness yesterday afternoon, Alexander walked a Pirate. Paul Waner drew the pass with two out and nobody on. Try to get a walk out of the veteran when he is in a jam!

ABOUT 25 young pitchers in the National League should take a leaf out of Alexander's book in regard to control. Nearly every youngster on the field here can throw a ball better than Aleck, but how many of them can blank the Cardinals or Pirates in nine innings?

Just a Moment--

THE SUN-TELE was the only paper in Pittsburgh yesterday to present its readers pictures of the opening game between the Pirates and Cards at St. Louis. They appeared in all editons.

These pictures were taken by Dan Benjamin, staff photographer, and were rushed here by airplane.

The Sun-Tele did this only to continue its policy of being FIRST WITH THE LATEST!

BILL M'KECHNIE appears to have a very smart ball club. Frisch and Thevenow are studious infielders who play the batters beautifully and of course Bob O'Farrell is one of the game's greatest catchers. Then there are Rabbit Maranville, Jack Onslow and other wiseacres on the bench.

THEVENOW looks as good as a bundle of Bank of Italy stock. Tommy made two plays yesterday that set him back in his 1926 world series form as far as this writer is concerned. Frisch also is playing brilliant ball. It's rather strange that Frisch, a big star at second, is an awful flop in the shortfield.

GIANTS DROP LAI

NEW YORK, April 13.—(INS.)—The New York Giants have released Buck Lai, Chinese infielder, to the Jersey City club of the International League.

KATKISH NEAR TOP FORM

Jack Katkish will engage in his last hard workout today for his 10-round windup battle with Jack Zivic at Motor Square Garden next Monday night. He will taper off with a light session in the gym tomorrow and simply rest up then until bell time.

Zivic is expected in from New York Sunday morning.

Vince Dundee, brother of Joe, the welterweight champion, boxes Jackie Fields at Los Angeles next Tuesday night.

Bernard Kelly Jr., of McKeesport, has matched Monte Sirko, whom he now is managing, and Al Dundee for a 10-round bout at Mansfield, O., April 23. Either Teddy Welsh or California Joe Gans will appear in another 10-rounder on the same card.

Mull Bowser would like to get Frank Moran, his 128-20—pounder of Homewood, on in bouts at Motor Square Garden, McKeesport and Washington, Pa.

Fay Keiser, the veteran, comes out of retirement to fight K. O. Yutzy in a 10-round grudge fight at Cumberland tonight.

The large entry of amateurs competing in the A. M. A. seniors championships at Motor Square Garden tonight and tomorrow night is pointing for the National championships and Oylmpic tryouts at

Panther Net Squads Drill

By JESS CARVER.

UNIVERSITY and city scholastic swimming records will be heavily assaulted today and tomorrow as more than 150 crack high school aquatic stars and the members of the Pitt varsity and freshman teams compete in the annual University of Pittsburgh Interscholastic and university swimming championship in the Trees' Gym pool.

The meet will get under way tonight at 8 p. m., with the running off of trial heats in both the senior and junior high school events. Capt. Wright of Pitt and Al Mango will lead the attacks on the Pitt records.

One championship will be decided tonight, that being the fancy diving, for both high schools and for the varsity and freshman swimmers. Preliminary heats to determine finalists will be held in the 100-yard back stroke, 40-yard free style, 220-yard free style, 100-yard breast stroke and 100-yard free style events.

Tomorrow afternoon the finals will be staged in these events and the relay championships staged.

Capt. Wright of Pitt will make a determined effort to crack his own university record in the 40-yard free style. The mark at present stands at 0:18 2-5. Al Mango of Erie will swim the 150-yard back stroke distance in an attempt to set a new record. Wright will also make an effort to better his own 50 and 100-yard free style records. The 100-yard mark he must lower was set by himself this year and is 0:55 flat.

PITT NETTERS START

The Pitt varsity and freshman tennis squads will report for their initial outdoor practices of the season today and will work out on the Stadium courts, located behind the two goal posts.

The Panther yearling squad will be strengthened considerably by the presence of Eddie Jacobs, former national junior champion and ranking star, who will report for the team this year.

CELTICS AFTER CUP TITLE

By TOM BIRKS.

Their second battle in quest of the Western Pennsylvania soccer title now held by Heidelberg will take place tomorrow at Westinghouse High School field when the Pittsburgh Celtics tackle the German Sport Club.

The Celtics safely negotiated the first hurdle lost Sunday when the Douglas was eliminated. The second battle finds the German club trying to stop the Celtics, and fans can depend upon seeing a good game. The game will start at 3:30 p. m. with Doneghay in charge.

PIRATES

would demand "hustle" at all times. The two defeats sustained at the hands of the ambitious Redbirds have not had the effect of getting the Pirates entirely "down." It takes real courage to smile in defeat, and the Bushwhackers certainly are not moaning.

The second setback was the result of a display of pitching on the part of the man who many think is the greatest pitcher who ever went to the slab in the national pastime. Grover Alexander shut the door in the faces of the Pirates and the manner in which he handled the league champions left no room for argument. Quite a few balls were hit hard by the Pirates, but Aleck was pitching with the position of his fielders considered and for most part the warm smashes went right into somebody's hands.

The master used his brush just as cleverly at the finish as he did when he started his diamond picture: yes, he seemed to be even more artistic in the closing moments of his scoreless performance. Aleck took three Pirates in a row in the ninth round and galloped off the field like a school boy with a five to nothing success. Burleigh Grimes was very good in spots, but the Cards had a vigorous attack up their sleeves and probably would have been tough for any pitcher in the business.

Bush announced this morning that John Miljus would take a crack at the Redbirds in the final game of the series this afternoon. Penn Avenue John is likely to be opposed by Fred Frankhouse, one of the most promising of the Cardinals' pitchers and the same boy who won six games in a row last summer after coming up from the Texas League.

GRIMES HURLS WELL

Grimes had a bit of hard luck at the outset of the battle. Taylor Douthit, lead-off man for the Cards, pulled a bounder toward third that hit the bag and rolled into left field for a double. On Holm's bunt the Pirate pitcher, who is conceded to be one of the best fielding hurlers in baseball, tried for a championship play. The active sharpshooter sprang for the ball and turning flung it to Traynor. A good toss would have completed the worthy effort, but Grimes threw low and both runners were safe. Frank Frisch, the hero of the battle, drove over Douthit with a fly to Paul Waner.

FRISCH HITS HOMER

Frisch is more popular in St. Louis today than Jim Reed and Senator Jim is a knockout in this district. Fordham Frank rammed a homer into the right-field stands, his second round-tripper of the season. The clever infielder found the range on the right-field stands in the fifth with Holm on third base. The two tallies took the contest out of the doubtful state, especially in view of the invincible pitching of the great patriarch of the sport.

Alexander held the Freebooters to seven hits. Boots Grantham was the lone Bucco to amble as far as the hot corner. In the seventh Boots and Pooch Barnhart hooked up singles, the former racing to third. There was only one out at the time, but Aleck fanned Johnny Gooch to end the rally.

BOOSTERS MEET TONIGHT

Harry Keck, sports editor of the Sun-Telegraph, will speak before the final pre-season meeting of the Homewood-Brushton Baseball Boosters' Club in the Carnegie Library, Hamilton and Lang avenues, at 8:30 this evening. Plans will be furthered at this affair for the club's old-time dance and bingo party, to be held in the Bryn Mawr auditorium next Wednesday evening.

BOUTS FEATURE SMOKER

Five three-round bouts will feature the boxing smoker and entertainment of East Liberty Post No. 5 of the American Legion in the Signal Corps Armory, Penn avenue and Station street, next Tuesday evening. Bobby Burke's Royal Quartet; Red Delphey, A. E. F. entertainer; the Musical Four, Jack Thompson and the Raspberry Gang are other numbers on the program.

Johnny Ray May Pull 'Comeback' in Ring

By HARRY KECK,
Sun-Telegraph Sports Editor.

BELIEVE it or not, but we may have Johnny Ray back in the ring in a "comback" role.

Johnnie Ray

The tip comes from James (Red) Mason, manager of Cuddy DeMarco and others and former pilot of Ray and the late Harry Greb, who is at Hot Springs, Ark., with DeMarco and Ray. He writes that Ray donned the padded mittens with Cuddy the other day and looked a lot better than many fighters who are getting the money these days, and Mason has been urging him to try to get in shape for another fling. Ray left here for a vacation at the Spa after dropping out as matchmaker of the Motor Square Club.

MASON TO HAVE HEAVY

Mason also says in his letter that he will surprise the natives shortly by handling a promising heavyweight. There has been much speculation for years about Mason's failure to go in for heavyweight talent, in view of the big money the big fellows make. Mason finally has decided to get in the swim and try for a big shot. He will not reveal the identity of his future great until he returns from the Arkansas resort.

It isn't generally known, but Larry Brignolia, of Erie, who fights Phil Scello in the semi-final to the Katkish-Zivic fight at Motor Square Garden next Monday night, is an accomplished baseball player. He had a tryout with the St. Louis Cardinals and refused to be farmed out because of his boxing activities.

SCELLO WHIPS ALLEN BEATTY

Phil Scello, McKeesport's 145-pound star, erased any doubts that might have been held as to his ability to beat Allen Beatty, Uniontown's welterweight sensation, by handing Allen a trouncing in the 10-round main bout at the Palisades last night.

Scello won nine of the 10 rounds and at no time gave Beatty a look-in. Beatty, possessing a smashing right hand, was unable to use it, and assimilated a real lacing. He won a shade in the fourth round, but trailed in all the others.

Mickey Solmen of New Castle knocked out Johnny Vivio, Hazelwood, in the third round of the scheduled eight-round semi-final. A hard right to the chin turned the trick.

Eddie Meyers of McKeesport won the decision over Young Angelo of Swissvale in the six-round second bout.

Billy Kane of McKeesport was awarded the verdict over Young Tennessee of New Castle in a slow opening bout of four rounds.

Jack Gross of Philadelphia boxes Tony Fuente at Los Angeles tonight. Harry Blitman of Philadelphia meets Tony Mandell of Boston at Hollywood, Cal.

Phil Goldstein, local lightweight, boxes Eddie Elkins at Holyoke, Mass., tonight. He originally was slated to meet Maxie Strub at Erie.

PILOT DROPS DEAD AS FIGHTER WINS

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., April 13.—(AP.)—Theodore Binzenn, retired capitalist of Joliet, Ill., and lately manager of Neil Clisby, Riverside, Cal., Negro heavyweight boxer, dropped dead shortly after seeing his boxer knock out Louis Alvarado, San Diego fighter, in the second round of a match here last night. A doctor said heart failure, induced by excitement, had caused death.

TEXAS LEAGUE STARS SUFFER BROKEN LEGS

HOUSTON, Tex., April 13.—(AP.)—Two Texas League baseball players suffered broken legs in the same inning of the Waco-Houston game here yesterday. They were Homer Peel, Houston left fielder, and Felix Vigare, Waco third baseman.

Peel broke his leg in the seventh inning when he ran into a fence in attempting to catch Vigare's fly. A few minutes later Vigare's leg was broken when he slid into home plate. Both were veterans and stars of their teams.

Lease scored 982 for the second high mark of the day. Other high scores were turned in by M. Collins and N. Daum with 967, Robertson and Roth with 862 and R. Boyster and P. Miller with 864.

WAYNESBURG STARS ENLIST IN MILITIA

WAYNESBURG, Pa., April 13.—A sudden wave of patriotism hit the Waynesburg College campus yesterday when five members of the Yellow Jackets varsity football squad and four other students enlisted in Company K, One Hundred and Tenth Infantry Regiment, local unit of the state national guard.

The footballers to become doughboys were Tom Boyd, of Masontown; Tom McCurdy, of Monongahela City; Robert Wiley, of Wind Ridge; Tony Gurerrie, of Brownsville, and Dick Stitt, of Dormont, Pittsburgh. Boyd and McCurdy were tackles on last year's Waynesburg team. It is McCurdy's third enlistment, he having served two previous hitches in the national guard with Company A, of Monongahela.

LOCAL GRID STAR, HIT BY TRAIN, DIES

Wilbert (Wib) Weyer, one of the best known independent football players in Western Pennsylvania and for many years a star performer for the Christy Park team of McKeesport, met instant death last evening when he was struck by a B. & O. train near the Riverton crossing. Weyer, employed at Riverton, was walking along the tracks on his way home when the fatal accident occurred.

WHEELING, W. Va., April 13.—The Homestead Grays easily defeated the McCarthys here yesterday, 9 to 0, in five innings, scoring three runs in the third inning and six in the fourth. Oscar Owens held the locals to [illegible] hits.

RECEPTION IN STORE FOR PYLE RUNNERS

By LELAND C. LEWIS.
International News Service.

EL RENO, April 13.—C. C. (Cross Country) Pyle's bunion derbyists emerged from the sage bush circuit that they have played for almost six weeks to play a big-time engagement at Oklahoma City today.

The 52 runners and walkers, their road toggery freshly laundered, set out of El Reno with 32 miles ahead of them and the state fair grounds at Oklahoma City, where advance preparations were made to handle a crowd of 20,000 people. Immediately after sending the pedestrians on their way, the flagship, reconditioned after its recent bridge crash, and other vehicles of the Pyle caravan pushed on ahead for the Oklahoma metropolis, where they were welcomed by Gov. Henry Johnston, of Oklahoma, state and civic officials. Subsequently the entire cavalcade joined in a monster parade about Oklahoma City.

HOLIDAY DECLARED

Oklahoma City's tribute to Andrew Payne, that state's favorite son and leader in the race with an elapsed time of 246:49:31 for the 1,450 miles from Los Angeles to El Reno, was seen in probably the largest assemblage for a sporting event in the state's history.

A half holiday was declared in the city; schools were dismissed; business houses and stores were closed.

Payne now has an edge of one hour 30 minutes 19 seconds over Peter Gavuzzi, Southampton, England, who holds second place. John Sols, Passaic, N. J., is third, 18 hours 21 minutes, 31 seconds behind Gavuzzi.

Earl Dilks of New Castle, Pa., trotted in last night in 9:29:32 for an elapsed time of 262:49:54.

LEADERS LISTED

The 10 leaders in the Bunion derby and their elapsed times for the 1,452 miles from Los Angeles to El Reno:

Andrew Payne, Claremore, Okla., 246:49:31.

John Salo, Passaic, N. J., 266:41:21.

Phillip Granville, Hamilton, Ontario, 276:31:53.

Olli Wanttinen, New York, 281:04:42.

Ed Gardner, Seattle, 281:34:31.

William Kerr, Minneapolis, 285:12:33.

John Cronick, Saskatoon, Sask., 286:10:50.

Mike Joyce, Cleveland, 288:04:04.

Harry Rea, Long Beach, Cal., 290:09:59.

MEADOWS, ARM MENDED, HERE

Lee Meadows, veteran hurler of the Pirates, arrived in Pittsburgh this morning after a trip to Linesville, Pa., where his ailing pitching arm was treated by a specialist.

Meadows' arm has been sore ever since he did his first work in the Buccaneer training camp at Paso Robles, Cal., but Lee said it felt relieved today, and he is confident of being able to take his turn on the rubber soon. He probably will remain here until the Buccaneers come home next week instead of joining them in the West.

President Barney Dreyfuss, of the local club, who left last Sunday to attend to some business matters and witness the opening game in St. Louis Wednesday, also returned home today.

JACKS SPURN COMPROMISE

NEW YORK, April 12.—Rumors of a compromise in the Dempsey-Kearns litigation came bob-bob-bobbing around today, to be met with a prompt denial by the two Jacks.

This is one of the most reliable rumors ever released by the whispering wires of fistiana. That is, it can be relied on to gain wide circulation before every legal clinch between the former heavyweight champion and one who was once his best pal but is now his severest critic.

Entirely surrounded by battalions of laywers, Dempsey and Kearns both asserted the case would go to trial next Monday morning in Judge Knox's Federal District Court here.

ANSWER TO QUERY

George Grantham finished second in the National League base-stealing race while with the Cubs in 1923, when he stole 43 bases in 152 games. Max Carey, then a Pirate, led the league with 51 steals in 153 games.

SPORT COMMENT

by JAMES J. LONG

BASEBALL'S old-timers who have long since done their fade-outs from the big show continue to bob up as applicants for jobs in various corners of the map.

Jim Thorpe

The latest to be heard from is Jim Thorpe, the old Indian football star, baseball player, and probably the greatest all-around athlete that ever lived.

Dick Rudolph, former pitcher and coach of the Boston Nationals, who is manager of the Waterbury club of the Eastern League this year, received a telegram from Thorpe the other day, asking for a job.

Waterbury critics report that the wire received hardly passing notice, and Thorpe was informed that there was no opening in the same formal manner that any other applicant would have been given the same information.

Evidently Thorpe is considered done now, but not so very long ago a chance for a minor league club to acquire the services of the famous athlete would have caused quite a commotion.

BACK in 1913 even the majors were all het up over Thorpe. The exposure of his earlier baseball connections having stripped the Indian of all the honors he won at the Olympic games in Stockholm in 1912, and ended his career as an amateur, several big league clubs tried to sign him, as a drawing card at least.

The Pittsburgh club obtained a promise from Thorpe to sign with the Pirates, and, though he received a larger offer later from the New York Nationals, he was honest enough to call on President Dreyfuss and announce that he was prepared to keep his word and to stay here for the figure agreed upon, even though in the meantime he had been tendered a better proposition by New York.

THE Pirate owner promptly released Thorpe from his promise and gave him permission to accept the New York proposition. "It remained for an Indian to set an example for many other players, who would have jumped at the bigger offer without considering previous promises or who would have at least played one bid against the other," said the Pirate owner.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, April 13.—The cotton market opened steady today at a decline of 2 to 6 points, active months soon showing net losses of 5 to 12 points under liquidation and local selling, promoted by smaller domestic consumption figures than generally expected.

The report of the census bureau placed consumption of lint cotton in this country for March at 581,318 bales, against 573,810 for February, and 693,081 for March last year, or considerably below figures mentioned with reference to its probable showing in the trade here yesterday.

Selling on these statistics, however, was checked by prospects for a renewal of unfavorable weather in the South and the market steadied before the end of the first hour, prices showing rallies of 4 or 5 points from the lowest.

Private cables said continental buying had been supplied by local liquidation and Bombay selling in Liverpool and reported a small turnover in cotton cloths for India and China.

The rally from the opening decline carried the market up to 19.80c for May and 19.45c for October, or about 2 to 5 points net higher on the active positions. The volume of business tapered off at these figures, however, and the market was quiet later with prices about net unchanged at midday.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, April 13.—Rain and snow in the West and Southwest with more predicted carried wheat values down grade early today. Besides, reports from the Northwest indicated seeding well advanced. Opening ⅝ to 1⅛c off, with May showing less setback than new crop months, the wheat market displayed only moderate power to recover. Corn and oats were also easier, corn starting ⅛ to ⅝c down, and subsequently holding near to the initial range. Provisions kept about steady.

At noon, wheat was ⅝c to 1⅛c net higher, and corn up a shade to ⅛@⅞c.

Greatly improved moisture conditions in territory which has been suffering from dust and drought gave a distinct advantage much of the time today to the selling side of the wheat market. Meanwhile the forecast pointed to additional rains and snow where needed. Considerable notice was also taken of talk that the low condition figures given in the government report on winter wheat are likely to be the lowest for the crop.

On the other hand, No. 2 red winter wheat, which was sold in Chicago today to eastern millers brought $1.86 a bushel, the highest premium ever paid for this variety of wheat at this season of the year. The price was 40c over the current quotation for May at the time the wheat was bought today for milling use.

STOCKS FLOAT ON FLOOD OF TRADING

NEW YORK, April 13.—(AP.)—The "bull" movement in stock prices was resumed with increased vigor today as speculative interest switched from the non-dividend paying issues to the high grade investment stocks. Rails again came to the forefront of the advance with a brisk demand developing for the eastern carriers. Trading was maintained at a terrific pace, with the ticker again falling far behind the market. Total sales averaged 750,000 shares an hour in the early part of the session.

The unexpectedly small increase in brokers' loans and the lower renewal rate for call money provided the chief background for the advance. Little attention was paid to the continued firmness of time money and the increase in bankers' acceptance rates. Formation of a big combination of British and American financial interests to further world trade was given a bullish interpretation by Wall street.

General Electric was one of the outstanding features of today's market, soaring nearly 12 points to a new high record at 163. Otis Elevator climbed 11½ points, Russia Insurance and Adams Express 10 each and United States Cast Iron Pipe 9½. Gains of 5 to 6 points were recorded by American Smelting, Wright Aeronautical, Midland Steel Products preferred, Fidelity-Phoenix Insurance, Brooklyn Edison, Houston Oil, Electric Auto Lite, National Biscuit, Greene Cananea Copper, American Express and Ludlum Steel, most of which reached new high ground.

Strength and activity of Gimbel Bros., which advanced more than 3 points to new high ground, was based on reports that powerful financial interests identified with the recent advance in Radio, Schulte Retail Stores and General Motors, had assumed market sponsorship for the issue. New York public utility stocks were strong on a revival of merger reports.

Lehigh Valley, moving up more than 4 points to a new 1928 high at 101¼, led the advance in the rails. Reading and New York Central each climbed 3 points and Union Pacific, Delaware and Hudson and several others advanced 2 points or more.

In the window glass field it is the old story of ordering for immediate requirements only. Stocks in jobbers' warehouses, with comparatively few [illegible], are still considerably below the average for this season. Operating schedules are being maintained on substantially the same basis as for several weeks past and all indications are that production during April will run around 150,000 boxes under demand. Demand for plate glass by the automobile and other principal consuming industries is still quite active and production is being maintained at a high figure."

Loans Up $15,162,000.

Loans to brokers by New York member banks were $3,994,470,000 on April 11, compared with $3,979,308,000 on April 4, the Federal Reserve Board announced. This is a new high record. The low for 1928 was $3,686,700,000 made March 7. The relatively small increase, comparing with a bulge of more than $150,000,000 the preceding week, was interpreted favorably in the financial district. Wide openings in leading industrials was the street's reaction to the news, with high-grade leaders, such as steel, General Electric, Anaconda, General Motors and Consolidated Gas starting with overnight gains of from one to four points.

Speedier Ticker Coming.

Practical tests of the newly developed stock ticker service, capable of handling a 7,000,000-share turnover, will be made soon. The present service has been improved by various means, such as printing only the last figure of quotations and further abbreviation of symbols, but it has been unable to render satisfactory service under the enormous burdens it has been called upon to carry in the current series of 4,000,000-share days. In yesterday's market, the tape at one time fell 15 minutes behind the actual transactions on the floor of the New York Exchange. While the market was fairly steady and no particular harm resulted yesterday, such delays are potential of heavy losses to traders who may be reading quotations on the tape anywhere from one to 10 points away from actual sales. Bears have frequently taken advantage of the delayed service to launch attacks against stocks in which they are active and distant traders have on several occasions bought and sold stocks on what looked like a sharp break only to discover that the swings had been but momentary reactions and that they had either been dislodged from a desirable long position or had sold into the bag on the short side. Elimination of these hazards will undoubtedly increase the commission house business materially and will also provide something like a "even break" for the traders.

Sulphur Stocks Drag.

Sulphur issues have done comparatively little in the recent strength. This has brought some buying by traders who believe the stocks will eventually share in the upward movement. Scale buying has been in evidence during all the setbacks in these stocks, and moderate outside liquidation by outsiders who were disappointed by the action of the stocks has been well absorbed.

SCREW AND BOLT SELLS OFF

Stocks maintained a fairly steady tone on the Pittsburgh Exchange today, but trading continued on a restricted scale, and there were no noticeable features in the market.

Lone Star Gas was traded in on a narrow range with the stock showing good support on minor reactions. Present level of the shares, between 50 and 51, represents deduction of rights to purchase new stock at $35 on the basis of one new share for each three shares owned. Rights sold today at slightly above $8. Other fuels were quiet. Dixie Gas, which has been one of the strongest issues in the list this week, made another fractional gain, but only a few shares changed hands. Arkansas Gas was unchanged.

In the manufacturing division the trading was fairly well scattered. Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt slipped back to a level more than two points under the high reached on the spurt early this week. Armstrong Cork dropped a fraction while Standard Sanitary held steady around 35½, the price at which it has been selling for several days. Glass stocks were dull and narrow.

ASK
WHO OWNS ONE

THE PACKARD SIX...
as easy to own as a lesser car
—and we will gladly demonstrate it

PERHAPS you, too, are paying for a Packard without owning one.

Perhaps you, too, are putting up with the disadvantages of a lesser car when at no greater cost you might be enjoying the beauty, comfort and performance of a Packard Six.

Many motorists are—but by no means all of them.

Tens of thousands have learned that Packard Six transportation, figured on a dollars and cents basis, costs no more than they are accustomed to pay—and that the luxury and distinction of Packard ownership are the added rewards of their good judgment.

We can show you in a very few minutes with paper and pencil how financially easy it is to own and operate a Packard Six.

With the cost records of your present car we can establish in black and white that over a period of years the Packard Six costs no more per mile, per day, or per year.

Our figures are based, of course, on the long and trouble-free life of the Packard Six—for statistics prove that the average Packard Six owner keeps and enjoys his car far longer than lesser car owners keep theirs.

Of course the first cost of a Packard Six is higher. But it costs no more for Packard Six gas, oil, garage and tires, but little more for license and insurance—and appreciably less for Packard Six maintenance and repair.

The actual figures will surprise you for they indicate conclusively that Packard Six ownership costs no more in the long run than the buying and trading in of a compromise car every two years or so.

When may we appraise your present car and tell you of the convenient time payment terms on which your Packard Six is available?

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, April 13 (AP)—No new business came to light in the market for raw sugar today. While prices were nominally unchanged at 4.15c delivered for Cubas, a somewhat steadier undertone prevailed, as it was thought that the nearby duty free sugars had been absorbed.

The market for raw sugar futures was quiet in absence of new developments and price changes were narrow. The market opened at 1 point lower to 1 point higher and later was slightly easier under further May liquidation and moderate selling of September which was credited to trade account. The demand was slow and the market assumed a waiting position. Prices at midday were net unchanged to 1 point lower.

The refined sugar market was unchanged at 5.90c to 6.00c for fine granulated. Withdrawals were said to be fairly satisfactory and second-hand offers were reported at concessions.

BUGS BAER Says

IN THEIR efforts to hit the nail on the head the Republicans and Democrats have succeeded in hitting the nail on the thumb.

Every time a candidate is mentioned for President the opposition proceeds to mention him for other things.

Sixteen prominent citizens have been suggested so far and each one has received his new spring suit of mud.

ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Since the oil station has become a wayside shrine all political reputations are shredded wheat biscuits.

The Republicans will meet at Kansas City in an effort to nominate a suspect who is the soul of honor and will be fortunate if they get one who is half-soled with anything.

The amateur Democrats have selected Houston as their secret rendezvous.

It would be a good idea if the Republicans made a puzzle out of their indignation meeting and refused to name any dull candidate whom the Democrats could brighten up with an oil finish.

The Houston festival should nominate a candidate incognito. This would keep his record untarnished right up to November fourth. After a man is in the White House he is safe.

America has never impeached a President. But candidates are grease spots which will never be oil paintings, and for the next six months you can look for a big real estate boom in No Man's Land.

Good Roads Mean Good Times

The People of Florida Know It,

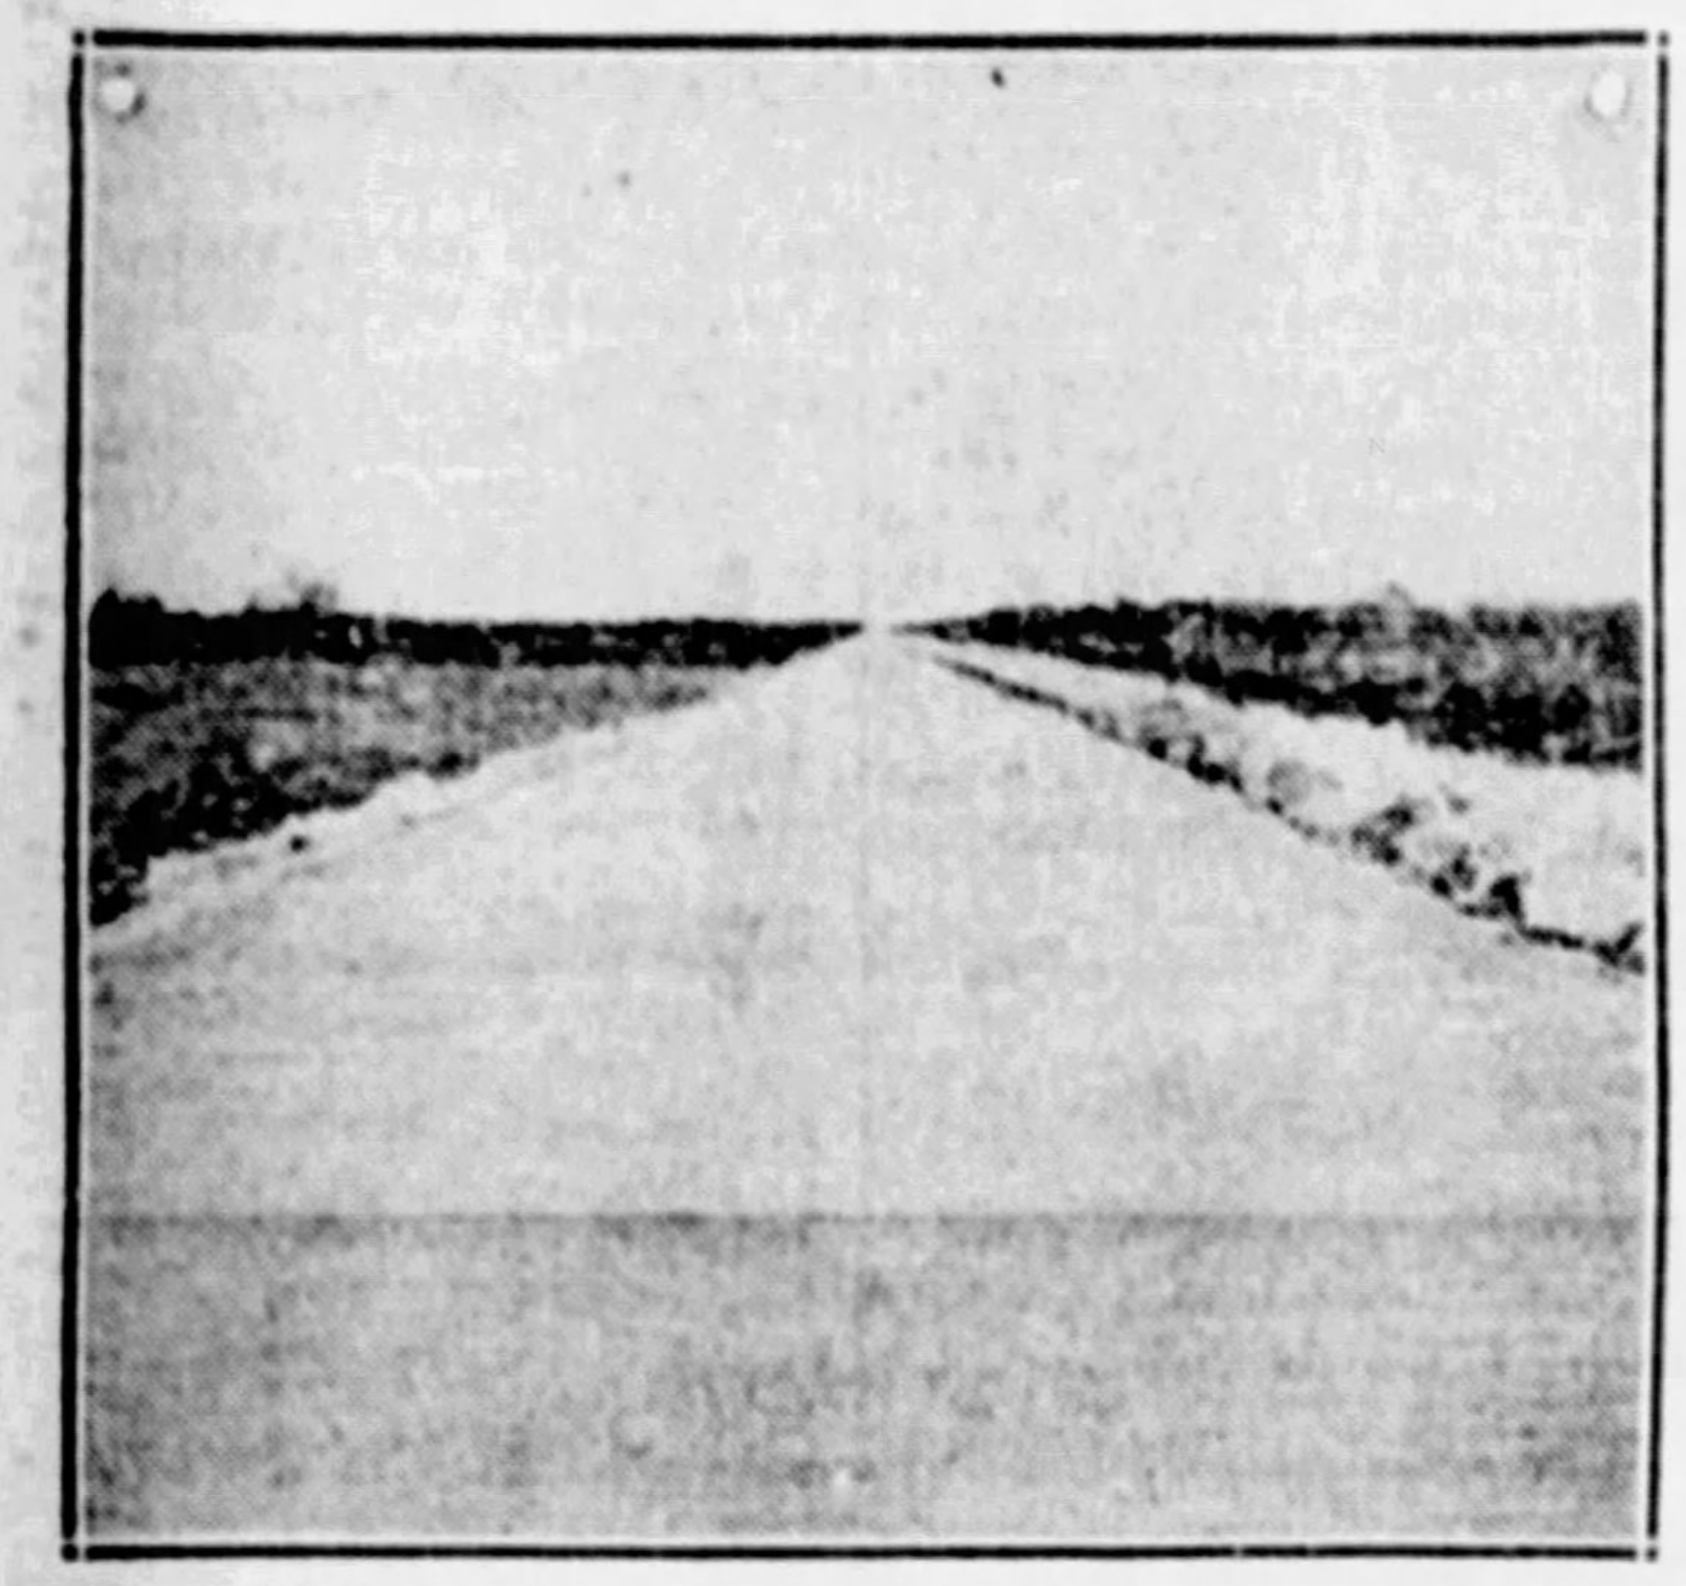
AS THE ROAD WAS

Florida is following the good examples in road building set by California and other enterprising states,

The first picture in this column shows the Tamiami Trail, crossing Florida from Miami to Tampa, as it USED to look.

The second picture shows the Tamiami Trail as it will be from Miami to Tampa when the road is opened on May 1st.

To be prosperous people must meet and deal with each other, and visitors that come to spend their money and make investments must find travel comfortable and easy,



AS THE ROAD IS NOW

Florida realizes it and is building roads accordingly. This magnificent Tamiama highway will open millions of acres of land to cultivation and settlement. It will make it easy for children to reach their schools. It will provide fertile acres for good workers. And, you may be sure, it will not be made a pretext for more reckless real estate booming and misrepresentation coming chiefly from other states,

These two pictures, much enlarged, ought to be hung up in every Legislature in the country to remind lawmakers and money spenders of the importance of good roads.

Florida is going ahead energetically, recovering rapidly. Thanks to good roads and wonderful winter climate, the old prosperity will soon return, greatly increased.

Not Hobbled

The limitation of the production of opium to lawful needs would be a simple matter if the nations which profit from misuse of dope would live up to their moral professions.

They all solemnly avow the wish to rid mankind of the abominations of narcotic addiction. But, when pressed by the United States at Geneva to make their words good, enough of them have quibbled to make concerted and immediate action impossible.

Twice the advisory committee of the League of Nations charged with suggesting remedies for this evil has hemmed, hawed and evaded the simple proposals offered by the representatives of the United States.

Further proof is not needed of the League's impotency in this matter. Secretary Kellogg is, therefore, fully warranted waiting no longer for it to act.

By direct negotiation, already successfully concluded with three important nations and pending with fourteen others, he is [illegible]ing to organize a world-wide policing of illicit drug shipments.

Thus every nation is subjected separately to an acid test. Either it must agree to play its part in reducing a curse upon humanity or accept the ignominy of failure.

The episode proves the ability of the United States to maintain world leadership all the better because free of League hobbles.

Sunday Recreation Gain

The Puritan concept, that whatever is pleasant must be sinful and that goodness consists mainly in being as uncomfortable as possible, colored much of American life for generations. You can see traces of it yet in back districts,

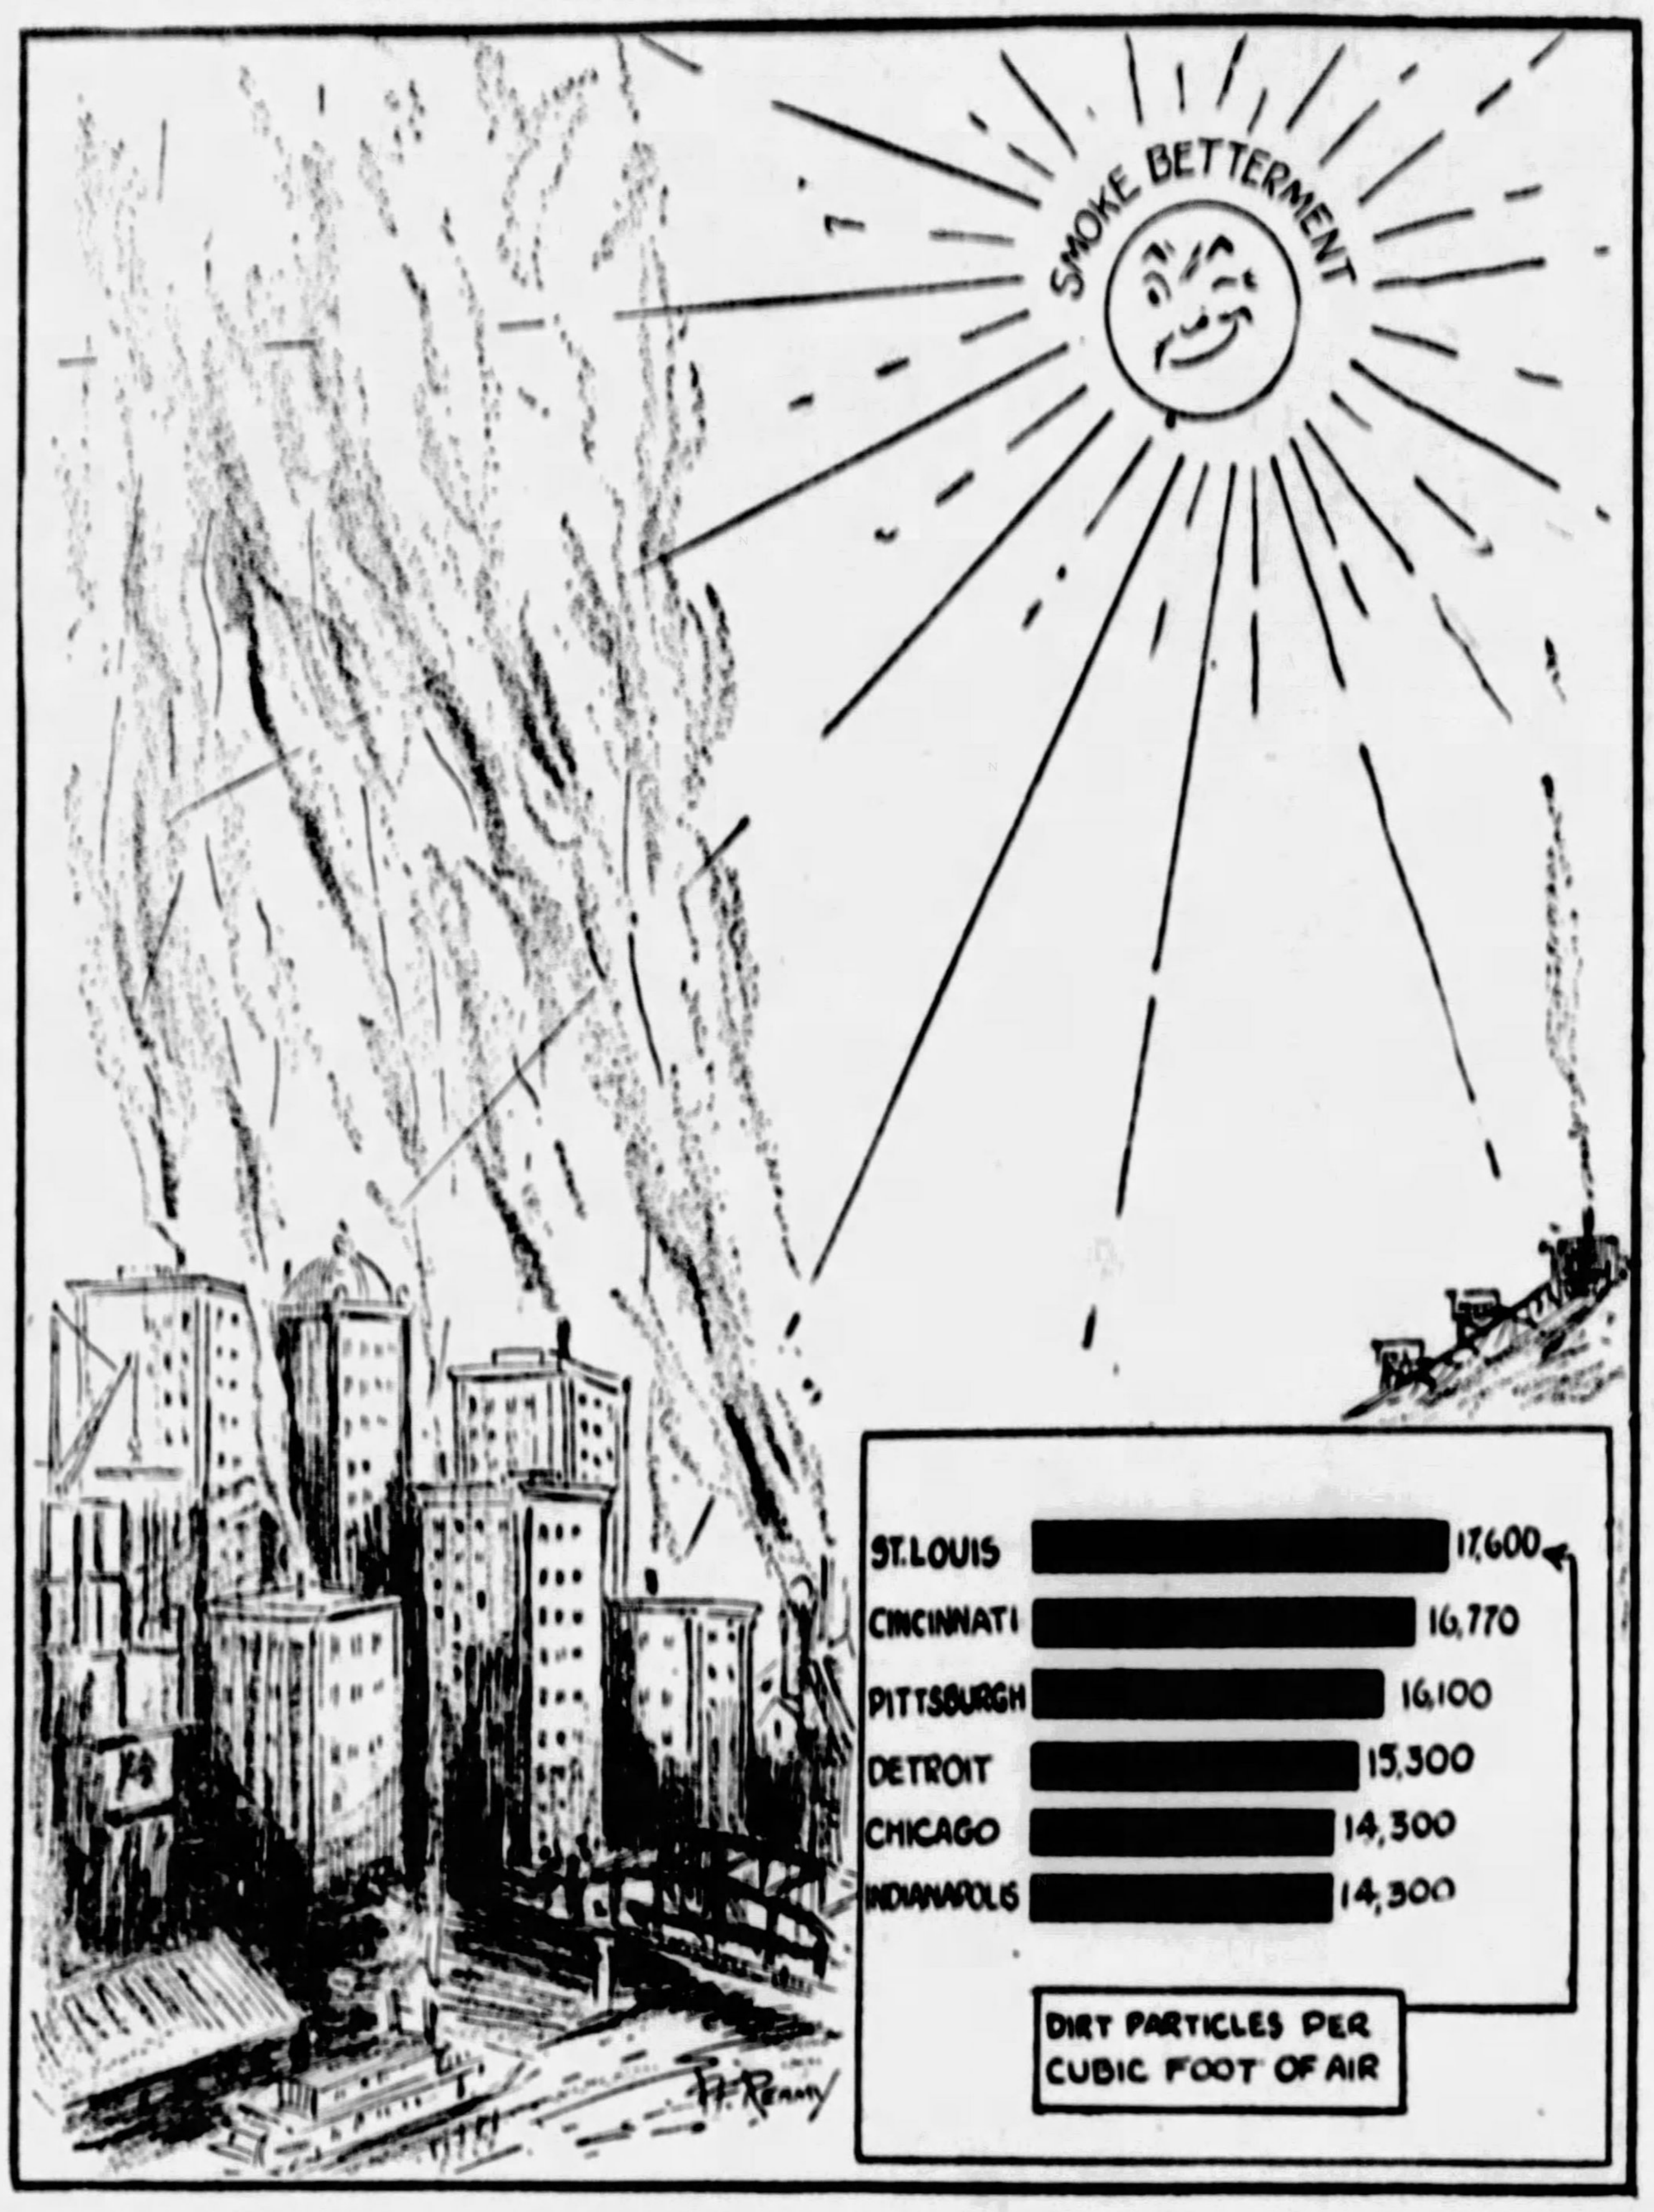
But how far our cities have gone from this standard is suggested by what Dr. Hugh Hartshorne, of Columbia University, said recently before the Religious Education Association in Philadelphia and how it was received.

He actually urged the church to favor recreation and wholesome pleasure on Sunday with as much emphasis as it stresses worship. And he suggested that most congregations during the summer months would be better for holding their services out of doors.

Did a shocked and indignant audience howl him down or throw him out?

Not so. His suggestion was received sympathetically as a matter of course.

From First to Third in Twilight Zone



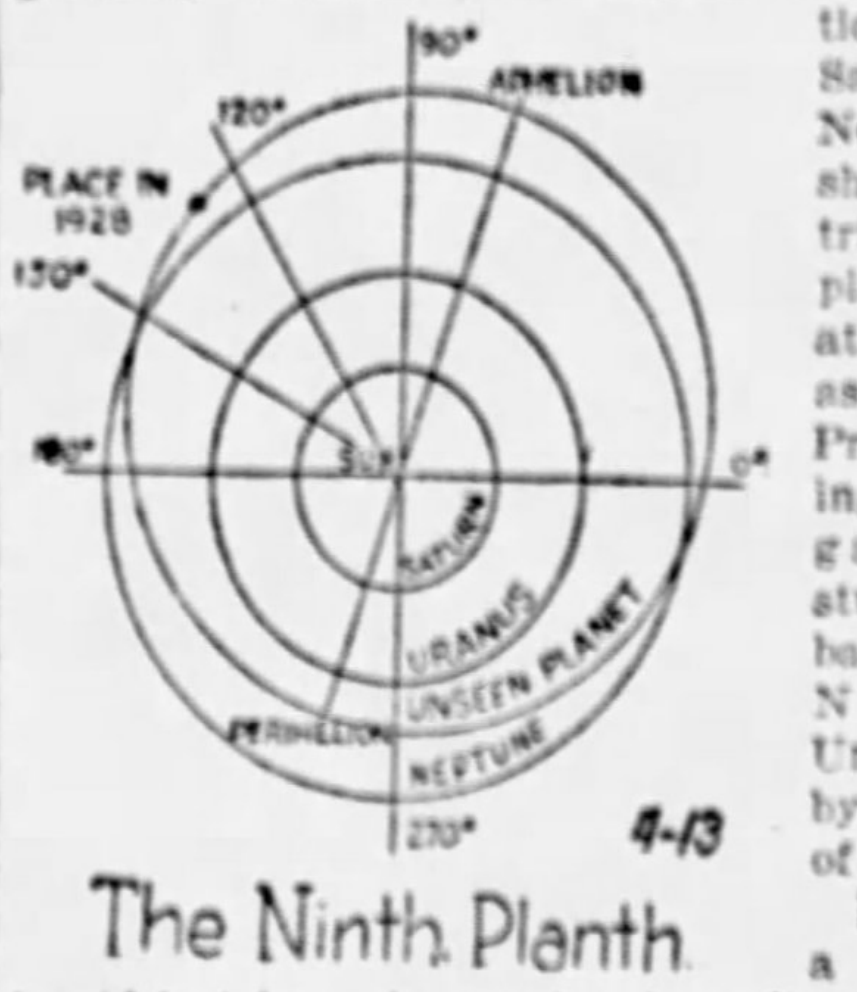
Garrett P. Serviss Says:

The Ninth Planet

PROFESSOR WILLIAM H. PICKERING, who has long been studying the problem of the existence of an as yet unseen planet in the solar system beyond the orbit of Neptune, now the most remote known member of the sun's family, announces in Popular Astronomy the latest results of his calculations.

Formerly it was assumed that the planet sought for would be found revolving in an orbit well beyond that of Neptune, and that it would prove to be a globular mass comparable, perhaps, with those of the other outer planets. But Professor Pickering has reached the conclusion that when found this planet will probably prove to be of moderate dimensions, of a smaller mass (about one-half) than the earth, while instead of revolving far outside of Neptune's orbit, it may travel in an elliptical orbit, a large part of which lies between the orbits of Neptune and Uranus. In short, it may be a case of a companion planet of Neptune, "analagous to the sixth and seventh satellites of Jupiter."

The accompanying digram, which is based upon that given by Professor Pickering, shows the probable position of the orbit of Saturn, Uranus and Neptune. It also shows the heliocentric position of the planet in its orbit at the present time as estimated by Professor Pickering. In his investigation he has studied the perturbations not only of Neptune but of Uranus and Saturn by the gravitation of this planet.



The Ninth Planth

He has computed a short ephemeris to aid in telescopic search. According to this, the Right Ascension of the planet should be: On February 1, 1928, 8 hours 56 minutes; on March 1, 8 hours 51 minutes. This region of the sky lying far south of the head of Hydra, is on the meridian early in the evening in April.

• • •

The stellar magnitude of the object is estimated to be 12.1, so that a small telescope should suffice to make it visible; but to recognize it as a planet is another thing. Its very slight westward motion would give a clue to that.

Having nearly the same mean distance from the sun as Neptune, it may be called as before said, a companion planet to Neptune, but Professor Pickering remarks:

"We must point out that this object is in no sense a satellite of Neptune, revolving about it in a period of 165 years, but a true primary planet."

It is not certain, however, that the period is exactly the same as that of Neptune, in which case the conjunctions of the two planets must occur at very long intervals. The distance of the object from the plane of the ecliptic is assumed to be small, and searchers for it, Professor Pickering suggests, will not be obliged to look very far from the ecliptic to find it.

In conclusion Professor Pickering indicates the need of a prompt search. "It should be pointed out," he says, "that our most certain indication of the existence of the planet, and also our most accurate guide to its present location, is its perturbation of Neptune. Its sharpest point of inflection was already passed twenty years ago, and every year since then its true position is likely to deviate more and more from any that may be computed. No time should, therefore, be lost in locating it."

Here skilful amateurs may perhaps do good work.

Aviation's Great Need

IT COST American aviation $500,000 to add an hour and fourteen minutes to the endurance record, but it was worth it.

It is by such demonstrations as the one recently given by Stinson and Haldeman at Jacksonville Beach that flying is established as a stable convenience rather than a stunt.

There will always be adventurous spirits who will go in for stunt flying. They provide the necessary thrills. But from now on the great need in aviation is to build for safety and reliability.

Lend an Ear

WHY do you get so angry when you are criticized?

You can't expect to go through life without criticism, can you?

You are not so egotistical as to suppose that everything you say and do is acceptable to everybody, are you?

Who are you, that one must let you have your way, in everything?

Who are you, that your word must stand against the opinions and expressions of others?

You think you have had experience?

You know that your intentions are honorable.

You believe that your judgments are wise and should be followed.

But has the other fellow always to keep silent?

You can see only one side, if you take the position that you are not to hear it mentioned that you have made a mistake.

It has been said, "the king can do no wrong."

It was considered the height of loyalty not to acknowledge that the king would make a mistake, once upon a time.

You are not a king, and you are human, and you make mistakes. Rectify them by listening to criticism.

Wishes

I WISH I had a slender throat
On shoulders lily-white,
A voice to rival thrush's note
And hair like dusky night.

A soul to match a lovely form,
A temper half divine,
A courage staunch through every storm,
All these, I choose for mine.

I would be wise, oh, very wise,
In lore of ancient days,
Would know all science can devise
In earth's most modern ways.

Yes, I would join such company
As fills the ranks of saints,
For I in short, would love to be

Tales that are Told

Drawing the Line

THE son of wealthy but self-made parents was giving an elaborate dinner to celebrate his coming of age.

A day or two before the event he ran across an old school friend to whom he had forgotten to send an invitation, and straightway asked him to come to the celebration.

The prospective guest made a cautious inquiry before accepting.

"By the way," he remarked, "is your father coming?"

The wealthy son of wealthy parents was taken aback.

"Good heavens, no!" he replied, with a delicate shudder. "A fellow must draw the line somewhere."

Doing Its Duty Twice

IVOR was a very earnest young man without much initiative. Consequently, when he bought a diamond engagement ring for his fiancee he was completely at a loss for a suitable inscription to be engraved inside.

"What shall I put in it, dad?" he asked.

"Oh," was the reply, "er—er—you might say, 'When this you see, think of me.'"

The ring was duly delivered and bore the somewhat unusual inscription:

"When this you see, remember dad."—London Answers.

Her Retort

THE woman at the cottage door folded her arms defiantly.

"No, I don't want any of your burglar-alarms," she snapped to the agent on the step.

He smiled.

"The woman next door, told me you wouldn't."

Her expression changed.

"Oh, indeed? What did she say?"

"That it was no use trying here, as you had nothing to steal."

"She said that, did she? Young man, I've changed my mind. I'll take one for every door and window in the place."

Much Too Close

A CERTAIN gentleman who bought a house as close to the station as he could possibly get it soon repented of his choice.

The following is a letter he wrote to the railway company complaining about the noise made by shunting operations throughout the night.

"Gentlemen, why must your engines ding and dong and fizz and spit and pant and grate and grind and puff and bump and chug and hoot and toot and whistle and wheeze and jar and jerk and snarl and slam and throb and roar and rattle and yell and smoke and smell and shriek all the night long?"

Puzzling

PATRICK O'CASEY had just received a letter from his married sister announcing the birth of her baby.

With a snarl of disgust the Irishman passed the letter across to a friend of his.

"You don't seem too pleased about it?" remarked the latter. "What is it? A boy or a girl?"

Patrick scratched his head.

"'Tis that's the whole trouble," he returned. "She didn't say in her letter whether it was a bhoy or a girl, and now Oi'm wonderin' whether it's an uncle or an aunt I am!"—London Answers.

New York Day by Day

by O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 13.—Thoughts while strolling Ladies with long colored handkerchiefs dangling from their sleeves, The comedians of the Coffee Pots, Furtive old men who spear snipes in gutters, Some day the world will take care of its aged poor, I hope soon, There's a reason,

The Eaton sisters—Pearl, Doris and Mary, Each in a Broadway show, Those dudish fellows who turn out to be restaurant waiters, The waistline is coming back, Grinning, chubby fellows who carry musical instrument cases, The cafeteria that gives each customer a package of cigarets,

Bide Dudley's beautiful wife, A 46-chair barber shop, Preliminary boys with twisted noses and noisy mufflers, A Chinese girl using her lipstick in a limousine, Grace Moore, another American girl, to sing at the Metropolitan, There should be more,

Those huge windows lined with plush and displaying only one article, Restaurant sign: "Wanted —Brunette waitresses." The young Fifth avenue cop who looks like Lindbergh. The deference New York shows cripples. An organ grinder with his monkey collects a bigger crowd than they would in Gallipolis, Ohio.

One of the Carnegie boys—Charles M. Schwab. Those flossy paintings on jazz band bass drums. A blues singer in an imported car. Gray skies, wet streets and a blurry drizzle. Ring-the-basement-buzzer speakeasies. Cobblers who look out their cellar windows over half glasses.

Long pointed finger nails. Gentlemen trying to walk a straight line but swaying a little. What's become of the servant question? Father Cashin. Purses from Paris —made in Hoboken. I'm tired of hearing about the Astaires dancing. There are a few other dancers. Harriet Hector, for instance. Or Will Mahoney.

A rich young man at a drug store sandwich counter. That will not help him socially. The old timer who drives about Broadway in a buggy with one foot over the dashboard. Those apple cake and fresh milk stands. A man roller skating on a roof cornice—just to ballyhoo a rink.

The dream of every vaudeville artist is to play a week at the Palace. That insures many weeks of work if they make good. The Monday afternoon audience is reputed to be the toughest in the world. The critics are there, as well as show scouts, agents, song pluggers and such. The attitude is dare-you-to-make-me-applaud. And it is tragic to see performers who fail walk off the stage in almost complete silence. The late Nora Bayes was probably the supreme favorite of Palace audiences.

* * *

A character around Broadway is a former stunt man of the movies. He has jumped over cliffs in parachutes, leapt from trains to autos and otherwise risked his life to provide thrills. His skull has sustained three fractures and today his mind is clouded. He wanders about the cafes and speakeasies talking incessantly of dare-devil exploits. Hollywood has many. They are called "crash crazy."

* * *

It is astounding how many are willing to risk their necks for a small fee. Not so long ago a call went out from a movie casting agency for a man willing to go hand over hand on a rope stretched from the top of two skyscrapers. There were more than 200 applicants who admitted they had no skill in gymnastics but were willing to take the chance. The fee was $150.

I once made the acquaintance of one of those human flies who crawl their perilous way up the side of tall buildings. His career was the result of that childhood game called "Follow the leader!" He discovered he could make more progress climbing buildings than other boys and all his spare time was spent improving himself. It offered such a thrill that ordinary work seemed commonplace and he became a professional. One day he lost his hold.

Subway crushes continue at the rush hour. It is said an average of 50 hats are smashed a day. One of my reasons for not riding in the subway. I cannot do without my hat. As you may have noticed, I need it to talk through.

Keats' lines on his looking into Chapman's Homer are well remembered. He said:

"Then felt I like some watcher of the skies
When a new planet swims into his ken;
Or like stout Cortez when, with eagle eyes
He stared at the Pacific, and all his men
Look'd at each other with a wild surmise,
Silent, upon a peak in Darien."

It was with some such emotion that the public read the other day in the press reports the story of how men and women moving about in London were seen in the little village of Hartsdale, New York, their actions being imperfectly but yet unmistakably recorded.

And how it was done was stranger still. The light from the action of these people in London was translated into sound much like the humming of an insect. This sound or low buzzing was sent through the air by radio, itself no mean accomplishment. Arrived in America the sound was again translated back into light and the gestures of the London people were seen by the New York folk.

All this rests upon the amazing fact that light and sound are one. For some time the representation of the sound of the voice has been recorded in waves upon the celluloid film, such as is used in moving pictures, an' that sound has again been retranslated into light.

This writer has personally assisted in this operation, and has not only seen himself, but heard himself upon the movie screen.

But now such sounds have been carried from one side of the Atlantic to the other.

The laying of the trans-Atlantic cable and the successful transmission of a message over it were hailed as constituting an epochal event in the world's forward march.

The recording of sound by the phonograph by which the tones of your voice might be as legibly written upon a cylinder as the lines from your pen upon a page of paper was hailed as remarkable.

The transmission of the voice by telephone was an enormous step forward and the telephone has already become an integral part of the business world.

But this television based upon the essential identity of light and sound waves and the essential transmissibility opens up new and amazing fields of speculation.

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD.

DOROTHY PARKER is reported divorced. More men fall in love with this genius than with any other one woman. A husband and a beautiful indifference were a protection against the love sick swains. But now, with spring coming on, the crush will be something awful. Delightful Dorothy who wrote: "Men seldom make passes at girls who wear glasses!"

To someone who told her there was a report abroad that she and her husband were separated, Mme. Luella Melius, grand opera star, replied:

"I fired both him and my other manager a year ago. A husband has no place in a prima donna's business affairs. We are still in love and happy. We never even thought of a divorce. But, you see, he loves me and he raved about me so much he made the public tired. The reaction was bad for my business. I told him to go straight back to Wall Street, where he belonged. He did, and he made a fortune. I am doing better than ever before."

Speaking of opera singers, Lina Cavaliere was ill for a day, some years ago because a simple reporter for whom she had dressed herself in gorgeous silks and donned her famous strings of large pearls, spoke of her as wearing "strings of pearl beads." With no desire to be inaccurate, the girl didn't know there were that many big pearls in the world. She had a mental picture of Cavaliere grabbing them off a department store counter.

(I was that simpleton who made the poor prima donna ill.)

The University of Chicago has abolished the former rule that college parties must end at 1 a. m. Mrs. Lennox Grey, social director, says two parties a year may last as long as desired.

The students may remember the mother-in-law who visited only twice a year, but stayed six months each year.

Madame Schumann-Heink, incidentally a great opera singer, but primarily one of the best loved women in the world, has given her $230,000 estate in California to disabled World War veterans.

The boys celebrated by giving her a ham and cabbage dinner. She said it was her favorite dish and she wasn't fooling them.

A newspaper woman dropped into her home for an interview one night, and stayed to dinner. Madame Schumann-Heink had noodle soup, cabbage salad and ham and cabbage. She ate two big dishes of soup with the noodles piled in high mountains in the middle of the dish; and I refuse to tell how many helpings of cabbage.

The robust health of Madame Schumann-Heink and her family bears out the mother who when asked how she raised her 15 children so successfully, said, "What families need is not doctors, but GOOD COOKS."
